Too much 'special' zoning, council says

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

The evils of special use permits as a means "to circumvent zoning regulations" were voiced by Granite City Council members Tuesday night during an 80-minute discussion of two highly controversial issues involving zoning and subdivision restrictions.

The long debate, which began as the first issue before the City Council in its regular meeting, ended with action that blocked the construction of a room addition to a home in the Cloverview Subdivision that was to be used for children's gymnastic classes, and sent back to City Attorney Lance Callis for further investigation the building of a garage at 3115 Wayne Ave., without a variance clearance by the Appeals Board.

Throughout the discussion, some aldermen blamed promiscuous issuance of special use permits as the basic cause of many of the city's zoning problems and asserted the policy of issuing such permits has far overstepped the intent of the zoning law as it originally was drafted.

As a result, the council voted 8 to 3 against approving a motion that would have granted a side property line variance to Judith Sparks, 2401 Pontoon Road, to permit construction of a proposed 40 by 60 foot room addition to the home. That action was taken on a report to the council by the Appeals Board recommending that the variance for construction within two and one-half feet of the lot sideline be granted.

The vote was in contrast to council action in its Sept. 26 session in which it approved a recommendation of the City Plan Commission to grant a special use permit for use of the proposed construction in conducting private gymnastic classes. The plan commission recommendation to grant the permit was approved unanimously by council members.

David Sparks, speaking in behalf of his wife's petition, told the council that the objects to their proposal to build the addition and to conduct the classes appeared at the City Plan Commission and the Appeals Board had received no objections when it recommended on Oct. 11 that the variance petition be allowed.

Sparks explained that his adjacent neighbor had provided a letter noting that he had no objections to the construction and that this letter also was provided for the Appeals Board.

It developed during the discussion, however, that the approval of the variance plea was made by Appeals Board members in a telephone poll rather than during a regular hearing. Several aldermen objected to such practice, although the Appeals Board report set out that while it was done rarely, the council in the past had approved recommendations based on telephone polls.

Sparks said he was "surprised to learn a few days ago that opposition had developed to arrangements to go ahead. I mortgaged my home and obtained a $50,000 bank loan to do this building. I have

Recalls meeting new pope

Monday's election of the first non-Italian pope of the Roman Catholic Church in 455 years has brought back vivid memories for Stanley "Steve" Barry, 1801 Fifth St., Madison.

The then-Cardinal Wojtyla took time to shake hands, visit with the Madisons and pose for the photograph.

Barry said Tuesday that when he heard the news about the Polish pope, he was excited — and had trouble believing that it was the same religious leader he had conversed with two years ago.

"It's just great!" was the reaction of Gerald Bargiel, 1612 Kennedy Drive, Madison.

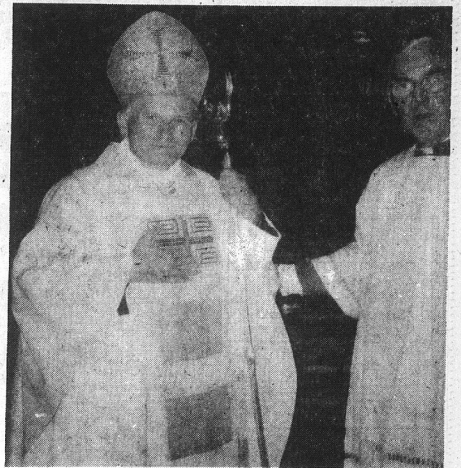

"I am a Pole and I am very proud the pope is a Pole. I believe he will do well in serving God and the church, due to his younger age (58)."

"His experience behind the Iron Curtain and in dealing with the Communists will assist him in Italy in dealing with the Communist governments there wherever problems exist."

"Poles, I am sure, are celebrating everywhere. I am sure we will have a celebration here at the Polish Hall in the near future," Bargiel told the Press-Record.

Polish Hall Chairman Edward Bonk, 834 Alton Ave., Madison, said, "Naturally, we are all excited that he is Polish. We are all hoping that everything will work out for

Newsmaker—Heroism aids dying man

Mrs. Mary Lee Mateosian took cardiopulmonary resuscitation training with the Granite City Rotary Annex — and was able to put it to use effectively Monday afternoon to revive a man she later learned was the father-in-law of a Granite City Rotarian.

The sad part of the sequence of events is that the man whose breathing she restored, John Alessandrelli, 68, of 2468 Iowa St., died at 11:35 p.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. But his family and friends are grateful that he had the opportunity to receive the best possible medical-hospital care during the last one and a half days of his life.

Mr. Alessandrelli suffered a stroke and collapsed while he was walking home after a visit to the hospital. Mrs. Mateosian was driving north in the 2400 block of Iowa St. at about 2:30 p.m. Monday to take children returning home from school.

She halted her auto when she saw a man unknown to her lying in the street adjacent to the curb. He was not breathing at the time.

A man motorist who had stopped prior to her arrival left to summon an ambulance, and Mrs. Mateosian began applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Mr.

Alessandrelli gasped for breath and then began breathing regularly.

He was rushed to the hospital and was placed under around-the-clock care but succumbed Tuesday night to pneumonia and heart problems associated with the stroke.

Mrs. Mateosian was praised for unselfish and timely action in a discussion by the club at Tuesday's Granite City Rotary luncheon. Rotary Vice-President Darrell Slater, son-in-law of Mr. Alessandrelli, described her success in preventing the latter's immediate death on Monday.

Mrs. Mateosian had been working at the law office of her husband, V. Robert Mateosian, before she made the trip along Iowa Street.

He is a Rotarian and she is president of the Rotary Annex. The office is at 1414 Twentieth St. and their home is at 3226 Colgate Place.

The lifesaving technique she learned has been taught to many local groups. It will be taught to East Side Life Underwriters in a course beginning Nov. 11.

Mr. Alessandrelli had been ill for three years, but had remained active.

Johnson, Cohn endorsed

On Tuesday night, at a regularly scheduled meeting of the Madison County Bar Association, the Association passed a motion made by Marshall "Zake" Smith, a Republican of East Alton, and seconded by Richard Allen, a Democrat of Granite City — recommending both candidates for Third Circuit Judge, Gerald R. Cohn and Bill Johnson.

They are competent and are eminently qualified to serve as circuit judge, the motion asserted.

"It was passed nearly unanimously by the large group in attendance. Neither of the candidates was present at the time the vote was taken," Deborah Forman, MCBA secretary, reported.

Attendance at the meeting was estimated at 105. The dinner was held at Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City. Associate Judge Johnson is the Democratic nominee and Attorney Cohn is the Republican candidate for a circuit judgeship held previously by John Gitchoff and currently by Andy Mateosian.

Both Johnson and Cohn won in primary balloting conducted in March. The general election will take place Nov. 7.

3rd blue ballot approved

Three, not two, tax related "blue ballot" proposals will be voted on by Illinoisans Nov. 7.

Circuit Judge Simon L. Friedman ruled at Springfield Wednesday that the "Thompson proposition" will remain on the ballot despite a suit challenging petition signatures. He upheld Sept. 8 State Board of Elections actions, and noted that the board had faced a "monumental task" in evaluating the objections.

Previously scheduled for Nov. 7 were proposals to continue the present corporate personal property tax, which virtually all labor-management-governmental groups have endorsed, and a plan to exempt chartered veterans organizations from property taxes on their post homes.

The newly-approved referendum question is an advisory proposal, intended to tell legislators whether the majority wants formal ceilings on governmental taxation and spending.

Governor James R. Thompson made the tax limit question a key part of his reelection efforts. This backfired to a degree when many of the 60,000 petition signatures were challenged and some were withdrawn.

Newsboys save woman

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Delivering last Thursday's issue of the Granite City Press-Record was the first day on the job for Timothy Vaughn, 13, and his friend, Thomas McElroy, 14, and one they're not likely to forget for some time to come.

The boys are being credited with helping to save the life of a customer along their paper route that day, by being attentive to the job and using their initiative.

The rain was pelting down, mixed with some hail, as the pair made house-to-house deliveries along an 80-family route in the North Granite City area.

They wanted to do a good job, so at homes where the newspaper might get soaked in the rain, or blown away by the gusty wind, the boys knocked on the door and handed the paper, in person, to the customer.

Meanwhile, they checked the address list provided by their employer — Granite City News Company — as they progressed. Tim and Tom were in the middle of their delivery schedule when the rainstorm started. But the boys kept going, pulling their cart through puddles in the streets.

In the 2400 block of Circle Drive, one of the customers failed to respond to their knock on the door.

There wasn't any place to leave the newspaper and keep it dry, Tim said. So, he continued to knock while Tom made a couple of deliveries at nearby residences.

When Tom rejoined Tim, the newsboys

AMERICAN STEEL FOUNDRIES backing for the Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign has risen 18 percent, including a 21 percent increase in employee standing. Honored at yesterday's UW report luncheon were these ASF Granite City plant employees. Seated, left to right, are Dale Bright, representing the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Steve Saltich, Patternmakers League of North America; and Alex Malynski, United Steelworkers of America. Standing, from the left, are John Claphorn, International Association of Machinists; and Neil Konardy, works controller, who was the plant's drive chairman.

United drive at 42%

Substantial progress was reported at yesterday's Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign luncheon, but the drive still has a long way to go, William P. Donovan noted.

The fall 1978 campaign has netted $235,109 or more than 42 percent of the $564,000 objective, division reports to Donovan noted. The general campaign chairman is works manager of the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City.

At the initial report meeting Oct. 4, a total of $131,566 or 24 percent had been raised. To this amount, another $103,543 was added Wednesday.

Donovan voiced pride and confidence in what is being accomplished, and stressed the necessity for accounts not yet solicited to be contacted this week or early next week.

The meeting of drive volunteers was held at Charlie's Restaurant and, as usual, the meals were "Dutch treat," paid by those attending. Campaign costs traditionally are kept at the lowest possible level, in accord with TCAUW board policy.

Additional report sessions are scheduled for Oct. 25 and Nov. 1.

The American Steel Foundries, a division of AMSTED Industries, and its employees were praised for boosting their United Way giving by nearly 18 percent, including a nearly 21 percent increase by employees. They jointly have pledged $65,097.

Harley Davis, Business Division chairman, was singled out for recognition due to his division reporting $23,500, or more than 67 percent of its informal quota.

Other totals reported were: Special Donors, $5,105 or 28 percent; Madison Service Division, $18,486, or 50 percent; Construction, $7,775, or 51 percent; Commercial Division I, $8,599, or 51 percent; Commercial II, $2,880, or 28 percent; Public Service Division, $18,486, or 50 percent; Industrial, $154,493, or 35 percent.

To meet the basic drive goal, another $312,891 is needed. Donovan pointed out in

Energy-efficient equipment topic of industry conference

Illinois Power Company's second 1978 conference for industrial leaders on energy efficient equipment will be held on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus Thursday, Oct. 26.

About 150 Illinois Power industrial and commercial customers from nearby cities are expected to attend Energy Efficient Equipment Conference 1978 (EEECON '78).

The conference will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. in the University Center. EEECON '78 will include 46 manufacturers' exhibits displaying various types of energy efficient equipment, 24 technical sessions on energy concepts and equipment, and two principal speakers.

The speakers are Illinois Institute of Natural Resources Deputy Director Marvin J. Nodiff and Illinois Power Company Vice President Larry D. Haab.

Haab will welcome participants with an opening message at 9:40 a.m. and will discuss "utility financing in an era of inflationary operating and construction costs."

Nodiff will discuss "the need for better energy utilization and the state's role in encouraging this." He is the keynote speaker and will address the conference's lunch session, which will begin at noon.

Conference participants are expected from the Belleville, Granite City, Hillsboro, Jacksonville, Mt. Vernon and Sparta service areas, which comprise the southern portion of Illinois Power's service territory.

A similar conference was held in May at Champaign for participants in central and northern portions of the company's territory.

EEECON '78 is viewed as an opportunity for industrial leaders "to broaden their knowledge of available methods, concepts and equipment, and to help them utilize their purchased energy more efficiently," Haab said.

The presentations will address the following subjects: induction metal melting, electric arc bottom furnaces, plant electric vehicles, air deaeration.

Vibratory stress relieving, thermal storage for cooling and heating, spray-in-place urethane foam insulation, high-temperature insulation.

Air curtains, drying and curing ovens, in-plant air cleaners, high voltage electrode boilers, condensate cleaning systems.

Induction heat treating, thermal efficient replacement windows, energy efficient electric motors.

And process and space heat reclamation devices such as high-compression heat pumps, heat wheels, heat pipes, coil-to-coil runaround systems, fixed plate heat exchangers and condenser heat recovery equipment.

New plan for women-infants food program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced that a new formula will be used to distribute $550 million to states for the special supplemental food program for women, infants and children (WIC) for the first quarter of the October 1978-September 1979 fiscal year.

Monroe Woods, Midwest regional administrator of the USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), which administers the program, says that under the new formula, Illinois will be eligible to receive $5,731,211 for the first quarter.

The new formula takes into account poverty, population and health factors and enables the USDA to focus funds on areas in greater need of food assistance.

Under the new formula, states will receive funds based on the number of children under five years of age or below 200 percent of the federal poverty level, multiplied by a state's infant mortality rate divided by the National infant mortality rate.

4 girls try to rob newsboy

Four girls between 12 and 15 years old attacked and tried to rob an 11-year-old newsboy at the corner of 22nd Street and Missouri Avenue at 4:25 p.m. Monday.

The boy was standing on the sidewalk when the girls approached him and took the paper, carrying bag and newspapers away from him.

One of the girls threw the boy to the ground and all four girls began searching his pockets and attempting to take the collection money.

A couple nearby saw the incident and came to aid the boy. They chased the girls away and also recovered the boy's bag and newspapers.

The youthful assailants ran east on 22nd Street, the boy's rescuers told officers.

Work on highways will rise

Illinois will receive an additional $146 million in federal highway and transit funds for the new federal fiscal year, Governor James R. Thompson announced Tuesday.

The U.S. House and Senate have sent the President a $51 billion, four-year extension of the highway and public transportation programs.

The legislation includes special provisions to increase funding for certain Illinois projects, as well as other provisions Illinois was seeking to expand the kinds of highway repair work eligible for federal funds.

"Under the new highway portion of the federal legislation, Illinois will receive $81 million more than we are currently receiving — a significant increase in the return of federal highway dollars to the state," Thompson said.

"An additional $55 million will be received in operating assistance and capital grant money for public transportation."

"The major increases are in the funding for replacement and repair of bridges — which increased fourfold from the current $14 million in federal funds to $56 million."

"In addition, Illinois qualified the U.S. 51 freeway and the Peoria-Quincy leg of the Chicago-to-Kansas City freeway for special funding under the Priority Primary Program. This could mean as much as $50 million in additional federal funds for those two roads," Thompson said.

Other areas included in the increased federal funding are: Nearly a $6 million increase in primary funds for widening and resurfacing work on state highways.

A $3.8 million increase in Safety Off System funds for repair of local roads.

An estimated $15 million annually for replacement of bridges at Quincy, Keokuk and the Central Illinois Expressway.

A $3 million increase in Secondary funds, mainly for repair of county roads.

Another feature of the legislation Illinois was seeking was a change in the matching ratios.

"In many categories, it will take five percent less state dollars to pay for an increased state highway repair and construction program. This will allow scarce state dollars to provide more repairs and construction," Thompson said.

As an example, in the use of federal funds for repair or replacement of bridges, the matching ratio has been improved from 75-25 to 75-25.

"On the basis of changed matching ratios, the five percent means freeing up millions of state dollars for other work that otherwise could not have been accomplished," the governor concluded.

Graduation fee higher

The Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University met here Tuesday and approved an increase in the graduation fee at the local campus.

The increase will raise the fee from $7.50 to $10, effective for persons graduating after Jan. 1, 1979.

University officials said the fee increase will bring revenues produced into line with the costs of commencement activities.

SIU students pay a graduation fee at the time they apply for graduation, with revenues from the fee applied primarily toward the cost of conducting commencement exercises.

University officials said that for about five years revenues produced by the fee have averaged $5,000 less than the amount needed to cover the costs.

According to the resolution, $8.50 will be allocated to the commencement fund and $1.50 to student promotional activities.

Renovation of university center okayed

Plans and specifications for renovation of the University Center at SIUE were approved by the board in September.

The renovation will provide additional office space for student organizations; additional meeting room space; the addition of flexible, multi-purpose areas; expansion of space available to The Aletheia, the student newspaper; addition of an art gallery; and consolidation of University Center administrative and business office functions.

A major part of the renovation plan involves space on the second floor of the Center formerly occupied by the School of Business. The design consultant for the project is Architectural Associates of Collinsville.

signed a contract for the building. I feel I have done everything required under the law," Sparks said.
He noted that after he learned of opposition during the weekend he began polling his neighbors.
"Fourteen of those I talked to said they had no objections," he said.
"I had no idea of this opposition," Sparks noted, pointing out that he had begun the project in early July when he went to the building inspector's office and obtained the information he needed to comply with zoning, building permit and code restrictions.
"I'm far out on a limb," he told the council. "I will be financially ruined if we don't go through with this. I certainly do not want to distract from the appearance of my home and these homes around me."
Sparks said he was surprised to learn that a petition, said to bear 200 signatures, had been circulated throughout the Cloverview subdivision, because he had talked with many residents prior to filing use permit and variance petitions and said he encountered no opposition at all.

A delegation of subdivision residents attended the council session, however, and were represented as spokesmen by Frank Kraus, assistant superintendent of Granite City Schools. Mrs. Judith Sparks is a teacher at Granite City High School North and David Sparks is a former substitute teacher.
Kraus told the aldermen that he had nothing against Sparks, that he knew him well and that he maintains a fine home.
He said that many people in the subdivision were unaware of the building project and the proposal to conduct gymnastic classes "until it came to our notice in the newspapers."
"This is undoubtedly a commercial venture," Kraus said, noting that "$50,000 is quite a building." He said the Cloverview Subdivision was set up as a residential area governed by restrictions specified by the owners of the land which one made up the Clover Farm.
"We want to keep the area residential. When something like this starts, it spreads like cancer. The subdivision covenants say that the area is single-family residential and it must remain so," Kraus noted.
He said that it was true that some persons in the subdivision had no objections to the building and the class project

"because some people are waiting for commercial activities to break into the area in the belief that if it becomes commercial they can get more money for their property."
Alderman Sam Whitmer remarked, "Under the use permit regulations a building 50 by 60 feet is a pretty large building. I am wondering if this man knows that a use permit is good only for the business for which it is issued and when that business ends, so does the permit."
"This is a tough one. Of all the zoning problems we've had, this is about the toughest one I know. This man has invested that money and he is committed heavily, and he has obeyed all the laws," Whitmer said.
Ronald Coleman, alderman of the Seventh Ward in which the Sparks home is located, told the council, "This is unfortunate. I talked with Sparks about this when he started and I did tell him that so long as his neighbors do not object, I had no objection, and I voted for it (the special use permit). But since the people have become aware of it, and are objecting, I will vote against it and go along with the people."
Warren Decatur of Ward Four remarked that he was "befuddled by this" because, he emphasized, Sparks had complied with all terms of the zoning law.

"I can't understand it," Decatur commented. There was no objection to the plan commission meeting, and these notices are published in the paper as legal notices. There were no objections made to the Appeals Board. The council concurred in the use permit Sept. 26, and no one appeared here to object. And now people appear to be objecting.
Coleman said, "What we need is a complete overhaul of the zoning laws so that special use permits are better controlled and cannot be used to circumvent the zoning laws."
Gerald Parnley, alderman of the Sixth Ward, remarked, "A lot of people don't even know what a use permit is for. They are not being issued under the original intent of the law. When the zoning law was set up, use permits were to be issued in rare cases where a handicapped person needed to have a business in the home, or a widow could provide a source of income in that way. It was not intended to use the permit for every type of business that comes along."
Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward charged that 95 percent of the use permits that have been issued "are illegal under the present zoning code."
"Some of the aldermen yell about use permits and vote them down and then when something they favor comes along, they vote them up," Douglas said.
"I tried to get something done about it when I first came on the council, but nothing ever was done," he added.

On a motion by Alderman Fred Schuman to concur in the Appeals Board variance approval, three aldermen voted in favor. They were Whitmer, Decatur and Schuman. Voting "no" were Aldermen Roy Poulos, Everett Morten, Glen Sprankle, Margaret Nunn, Douglas, Farmley, Coleman and Bowler. Absent were Aldermen Clyde Boyd, Earl Baker and Lloyd Bailey.
As the vote was completed, Sparks remarked, "What do I do now? I still have my use permit, don't I. Can I hold my classes in the basement?"
Mayor Paul Schuler replied, "Why, yes, you can do so."
He then suggested that Sparks get together with City Attorney Lance Callis to talk over his problem.
In its subsequent discussion concerning construction of a garage at 3115 Wayne Ave., the city's present policy of issuing building permits was questioned by several aldermen.
Callis, who had been asked in a previous council session to make a report on the garage construction, said the garage is three feet over the property line, but that David Jones, who obtained the permit, had a letter from his next-door neighbor asking him to remove the garage.
Callis said the plumbing fixtures in the building, a 24 by 36-foot garage, need to be vented and the heating unit should be enclosed. Other than that, he said, there appeared to be no violations of the building codes.
Jones said the permit had been obtained from a "clerk" in the building inspector's office, when asked if he gave the specific information needed for the permit, Sparks replied that the clerk had not asked for any.

That issue came before the council on allegations that Sparks was to be used for living quarters, but Jones told the aldermen Tuesday night there is no intention of using it for such purpose, but only as a two-car garage.
A member of a delegation to the audience told the council, "We do not object to it as a garage, but we do if it is used for a dwelling."
Alderman Sprankle said he had checked about 50 building permits "and none of them have the specific information on them."
At this point, Douglas made a motion that the city attorney be instructed to make a further investigation to determine if there is grounds for action by the city against the building owner.
Before a vote was taken, Whitmer remarked, "A little while ago we had a case in which the fellow had done everything right and his permit was rejected. Now we have a man who has already built the building. He has followed what he wanted to do."
"We've got a book to follow, and we have to follow it. We didn't have all these problems a while back. We need someone to go by the book."
"If our people (employees) are not doing the job, then maybe it is time some changes be made."
The council concurred unanimously in Douglas' motion to refer the problem back to the city attorney.

decided the occupant wasn't home, but still they couldn't figure out where to leave the newspaper.
So Tim knocked for a final time and the door opened.
Before either boy could say a word, a lady fell through the open door, virtually landing on top of one of the boys, in what appeared to be a dead faint.
The two attempted to raise her into a porch swing, but she could only gasp, "Tell Judy . . . get help."
One boy raced across the street to the home of Mrs. Judy Fenoglio and the other stayed with the gasping woman.
Mrs. Fenoglio called an ambulance and the lady was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and immediately placed in the Intensive Care Unit.
Mrs. Minnie Curtis is in fair condition the week of Oct. 19.
When the mother of one of the newsboys inquired about the ailing woman, a nurse at the hospital said, "It was very lucky the boys waited at the door so long a time, as Mrs. Curtis was suffering a heart attack."
Perhaps the persistent knocking at the door aroused her sufficiently to make a supreme effort to reach the door, it has been speculated.
The ambulance service reported that Mrs. Curtis was unable to breathe when reached by emergency medical technicians, who placed her on oxygen immediately.
Tim is a freshman at Granite City High School South and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Vaughn, 3039 Sinclair Ave. Tom is a sophomore at South and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvel McElroy, 3047 Sinclair Ave.

'Good neighbors' aid trucker in distress

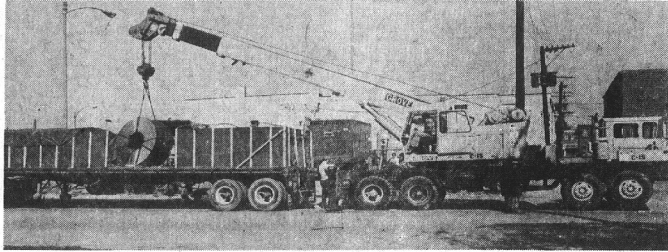

What to do when a 28,000 pound roll of steel begins tipping from a truck bed was the question yesterday on 18th Street at Cleveland Boulevard, and the answer was, "Get help."

Necley Keeney, driver for Orscheln Brothers, Moberly, Mo., said he left Michigan Metals Co. bound for Sedalia, Mo., when he rounded a corner and a chain securing the coil broke, throwing the chain binder into the air and out of sight.

The steel coil then began to shift to the right, breaking the boards which held it in place. Keeney got help from a nearby police officer who accompanied the distressed truck to the corner between S. M. Wilson & R. Dron Electrical Co., where heavy equipment could be found.

While a tractor from the Wilson firm kept the roll from tipping further, at right, Dron officials brought in a large mobile crane.

When the crane began lifting the heavy coil, one of the extended support legs broke through the sidewalk. The support arm finally was supported by planks and rail ties, enabling the steel coil to be safely lifted and secured on the truck. The operation required nearly an hour.

Madison patrols are planned for safe Halloween

The Madison City Council Tuesday night approved a resolution allowing the traditional "Trick or Treating" to be held on Tuesday, Oct. 31, and within a one block area of the child's house. This is the only night "Trick or Treating" will be allowed.

Other stipulations by the council provide that children "Trick or Treating" must be with a parent.

The council further authorized The Emergency Services and Relay Organization (ESRO) to assist police on that night.

ESRO will have three of their cars, marked with signs, patrolling Madison, in addition to the police.

"We need to take these measures to protect our children," Mayor Mike Sasak said. "I am sure the parents are just as concerned as we are that it be a safe Halloween for everyone."

ESRO and the Madison police also will give grade school children reflective material to be worn on the front and back of their coat sleeves.

Safety rules also will be distributed to school children by ESRO.

Smith's sales and profits at new highs

A. O. Smith Corporation had record sales and profits in the third quarter and the first nine months of 1978. L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, announced Tuesday.

Smith said that in the first nine months of 1978 the company had profits higher than in any previous full calendar year.

The record year was 1973, when earnings from continuing operations amounted to $18.1 million, or $3.67 per share, on sales of $58.6 million.

He cautioned, however, that the effects of inflation over the past few years have made dollar comparisons of sales and profits less meaningful.

More important, Smith said, was the margin improvement in the third quarter and nine months of 1978 compared with last year.

Profits as a percentage of sales in the third quarter this year was 2.5 percent, compared with .06 percent a year ago, while for the nine months, it was 3.4 percent compared with 2.1 percent for the same period in 1977.

In the first nine months of 1978, the company had sales of $80,144,000 and earnings of $20,422,000, or $4.16 per share, compared with sales of $55,419,000 and earnings of $11,762,000, or $2.40 per share, last year.

For the quarter ended Sept. 30, historically the low point of the year, the company had sales of $185,638,000 and earnings of $4,540,000, or 92 cents per share, compared with sales of $165,947,000 and profits of $10,000, or two cents per share, in the depressed third quarter of 1977.

All major operating units reported higher sales and earnings for the third quarter compared with a year ago. Smith said the Automotive Division, which manufactures automobile and truck frames, showed improvement in operating efficiency due to the absence of model changes. Dollar sales were up only slightly from the year-ago third quarter, but the division had a profit in the 1978 period compared to a loss last year.

A strong air-conditioning market led to a substantial sales increase in the third quarter, compared with last year, for the Electric Motor Division. This division, which manufactures electric motors for air-conditioning, refrigeration and water pumps, also reported much-improved profits for the quarter compared with 1977.

Profits at A. O. Smith Harvesting Products, a subsidiary, are also improved in the quarter compared with last year. Favorable economic conditions in the livestock market led to higher sales of the subsidiary's animal feeding

City begins brush pickups

The Granite City Street Department will make brush and limb pickups in a program to clean up all present deposits of such debris before Halloween night, Lionel Portell, city street superintendent, announced Wednesday.

Portell said the pickups began Wednesday morning with five trucks and two highlifts used in the operation.

He said the street department program of oiling and chipping city streets is expected to be completed by Friday, allowing access to all areas of the city. "We plan to pick up the brush that is on the streets now," Portell said.

Boy, 16, is sought

Police are searching for a 16-year-old boy who allegedly broke furniture and struck a woman in a house at 2414 Grand Ave., at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday. Wilma Boswell, 2229 rear Iowa St., owner of the house on Grand Avenue, said she went to the house to clean and found two youths inside it. She said the 16-year-old boy became loud and abusive towards her.

He then allegedly broke furniture, tried to push her down a set of stairs and kicked her. She went across the street and called police from a neighboring house.

The youths had left by the time police arrived. Mrs. Boswell filled out reports accusing the boy of battery and criminal damage to property and officers were alerted to search for him.

systems. Higher volume and improved manufacturing operations contributed to the increase in profits over 1977's third quarter, Smith said. Sales of residential and commercial water heaters were up in the third quarter compared with last year, leading the Consumer Products Division to higher profits for the period.

New phone system for GC city offices

Installation of a new Centrex telephone system in Granite City municipal buildings was authorized by the City Council Tuesday night.

The new system was authorized on a recommendation by Glen Sprankle, Fourth Ward alderman and chairman of the council's City Hall Committee which met concerning the proposal immediately prior to Tuesday night's regular council session.

Sprankle told the council that the new system, which will provide 45 terminals providing such updated service as direct inward dialing, outgoing call restrictions, station-to-station calling and individual call transfer, will cost the city not more than $136 per month with no installation charge.

The Centrex system recently was initiated at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

City Clerk Robert Stevens said that Felix Floyd, account representative of Illinois Bell, told him that installation can begin as soon as the system is designed for call priorities, and that the system should be placed in use by the first of the year.

Under the present plan only two of the new Centrex lines will go into the police station, probably for the police chief and his secretary, allowing all present police department lines to retain their present numbers, Sprankle said.

The Fire Department also will retain its present call system and phone numbers.

New lines will serve all city hall offices, however, along with offices in the City Building at 2301 Adams St., which includes the street department, inspection department, air pollution control board and the city engineering office.

Stevens said the new phone service will provide city offices with inner-building communication from one office to another merely by pressing two digits.

Another feature, he said, will provide conference calling in which two or more persons can join in a single call. Phones can be programmed so that a call to one phone which is in use automatically will transfer to the next designated phone and so on down the list.

4 in family hurt in crash

Four members of the family of Jerry Lay Sr., 27, of 2114 Lee Ave., were injured when their southbound auto jumped the curb and struck a tree at 3001 Madison Ave., at 11 p.m. Wednesday.

Lay, his wife, Janet, 23, and their children, Jerry B., and James Jr., 4, were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where all were admitted for observation with facial cuts and possible internal head injuries.

TO ATTEND RALLY
Gerald Cohn, Republican candidate for circuit judge, said today he will be among those attending a political rally at Steele Park in Eagle Park Acres at noon on Saturday.

New County Board members to get $5,500 per year

After years of criticism on the amount of money some Madison County Board members receive for attending County Board and committee meetings, the board approved a surprise resolution setting a flat salary of $5,500 per year for board members to be elected Nov. 7.

A resolution to continue payment of $40 per board member for each meeting attended was presented, but Member-James R. Heil (R-) introduced an amendment to eliminate the per diem and pay a flat salary.

Heil said he is tired of "those stinking newspapers telling me that's (per diem) the only reason I come over here."

Member Daniel Partney of Granite City supported Heil's amendment, saying, "If you have to put money under a public official's nose to get him to attend a meeting, then he should not be a public official."

William B. Webb of Granite City said he is afraid the flat salary may discourage attendance at some committee meetings, particularly the finance committee, which requires frequent meetings.

"I can't see paying everybody the same. I think you should be paid for what you do," Webb stated.

Heil disagreed, stating, "I do not see one face that would not attend a meeting just because we were on salary."

The board voted 19-8 to increase the salaries of the county clerk, sheriff and treasurer from $22,000 to $25,000 per year, the maximum allowed under state law for a county of this size.

Some members said they felt the raise was too high, but it was felt the officials elected Nov. 7 will receive that salary for the four years of their term without any increase.

A motion by Member H. Jack Franden of Alhambra to limit the salary increases to $800 per year failed on an 8-19 vote.

A motion then was made to increase the salary of the board chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City from $17,500 to $20,000 per year resulted in objections that the clerk, treasurer and sheriff would be making more money than the chief officer of the county.

Hagnauer said he felt the salary was fair and noted it can be changed in two years, unlike the other officials who must wait four years for a salary increase. Hagnauer also receives $12,000 per year as supervisor of Granite City Township.

The board's actions do not affect the circuit clerk, recorder of deeds or auditor, whose salaries were set at $24,000 before the last general election.

The board also approved a new subdivision ordinance, which was tabled two months ago when realtors and developers objected, saying it was too strict and would increase the cost of lots.

Some revisions were made, but the principal change was that the committee or county board now may grant variances from some of the regulations under specific circumstances.

Ten board members voted against the new subdivision ordinance after a motion to refer it back to the land use committee failed, but the ordinance was approved.

The new version requires subdividers to meet county requirements on street width, lot size, set-back distances and other specific demands.

Michael Semanish, a member of the land use committee, said subdividers should not worry about the new ordinance, saying that with the variance provision, "We will still work with those people. They don't have to worry."

Fantasy and fashion at beauticians' style show

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

The glamor of the movies, mixed with attractive and practical fashions, were mirrored in the hair styles and clothing seen this week at the 29th annual show, presented by Elite Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association Affiliate 33 of the Quad-Cities.

An audience of more than 225 persons, including a liberal sprinkling of men, viewed the 1978-79 fashion scene that ranged from casual wear to evening gowns and short, springy hair styles to the still popular long hair, with a softer look at the face and bouncy curls on the shoulder.

Dorothy Line, a member of the Illinois Hair Fashion Committee, and Debbie McCottrill were commentators for the hair styles and clothing fashions, respectively.

Retail stores participating were Tops 'N Bottoms, Stefanie Shop, Lord Nelson's Men's Wear, Boutique II, Marilyn's House of Fashion and Ruth's Store of Fashion.

As usual, the fantasy segment of the show drew loud applause and a few gasps from the audience, as models paraded in dramatic and extravagant costumes.

These sequences involved local models portraying characters from such movies as "Saturday Night Fever" and "Star Wars" to "Ziegfeld's Follies" and "Gone With the Wind."

The lavish costumes and impressive, capricious hair styles combined to give the viewers a startling glimpse of personalities from films of yesteryear and current movie spectaculars.

The artists, models and movies, listed in sequence, included:

Sheila Morgan, artist, Loretta Brown, model, and "Diamond Lil," Movie; Earl Tucker, Gwen Fuchs, "Ziegfeld's Follies"; Willene Gregory, Cheryl Rushing, "Gone With the Wind"; Mary Schiller, Lori and Nonie Schiller and Brandon Meyer, "Star Wars"; Margie Novosel, Kathleen Mason, "Good Ship Lollipop"; Mike Hopke, Evelyn Hood, "Bus Stop"; Judy Broshaw, Elizabeth Marsluf, "Goldfinger"; Dorothy Line, Judy and Michele Bequette, "Wizard of Oz"; Jolene Prowatt, "Grease"; Marcella Tucker, artist and Kathy Dodson, model; and Julie Ahring, Rich Segobiano and Marilyn Price, "Saturday Night Fever."

Artist Willene Gregory presented Kay Hopkins, model, in the Parade of Affiliates sequence, "Land of Milk and Honey."

Other artists in the show, included Candy Cardin, Mary Scarsdale, Carol Law, Julie Kraus, Janet Stanton, Renee Perrin, Louise Johnson, Naome Gray, Joyce Kotoff, Faye Gibson, Margaret Scott, Loretta Brown and Betty Smith.

MRS. FANNY EPSTEIN IN JEWISH HOSPITAL

COCOON TOP over skinny leggings, as seen at the newest disco places, are modeled by Monica Foster for Marilyn's House of Fashion. The short hair cut styling was created by beautician Evelyn Hood. Monica also modeled a bridal gown to climax the annual hair style and fashion show, sponsored by Elite Hairdressers Affiliate 33, saluting National Beauty Salon Week.

MODEL ROBIN CIONKO, seen over the heads of the audience against a background of shimmering silver strips, wears a perfect outfit for fall with its over boot length skirt, snappy shoulder bag and long sleeve blouse from Boutique II. Kathy Dodson of The New Breed Salon was Robin's hair stylist. Dorothy Line and Debbie McCottrill were commentators for the 1978 show.

ENJOYING THE SHOW. Part of the large audience at the Elite Hairdressers Affiliate 33 hair style and fashion show this week obviously are pleased with the presentations, judging by the smiles. More than 225 attended the event at Granite City Moose Club with proceeds going to the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children. The entertaining fantasy sequences, in which costumes and hair styles reflected various movies, drew high praise from those attending.

Hospice gets 'go ahead'

Immediate steps will be taken to register with the state of Illinois for establishment of a Hospice program for the Quad-Cities and Madison County. It was reported today following a meeting Monday night in which medical, civic and governmental representatives agreed "with enthusiasm" to launch the program here on a county-wide basis.

At the same time, steps were being taken this week to set up a speakers' bureau which will assign speakers — most of them in the medical field — to appear before clubs, fraternal groups and organizations of all kinds to acquaint the public with the Hospice program and how it will work.

The next meeting of the organizational group, now consisting of approximately 60 members, will be held at St. Elizabeth Hospital Nov. 13, followed by monthly meetings thereafter in an effort to coordinate the organizational work necessary to get the program operating about the first of next year.

Hospice is a concept of home care and medical treatment for terminally ill patients to permit them to spend their last days at home in company with their families under the guidance of a medical program that will make them as comfortable as possible.

While the program also provides for the inpatient care of such patients in institutional quarters with homelike surroundings, the Hospice of Madison County says the organization was named in Monday night's meeting — basically will be directed toward outpatient care.

Dr. Shabir Safdar, cancer specialist on the staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital and a professor at Washington University, St. Louis, who is spearheading the local effort to set up the program, told the meeting that the Hospice concept has been established in some localities throughout this country, having been brought here from England where such programs date back to 1905.

He suggested the establishment of five committees to initiate the organization of the Madison County program, noting that he prefers not to establish the program center in Granite City or Alton, but would prefer instead to headquarter the program in a central location within the county, as near as possible to a hospital. Jinny Tuetken, public relations director of St. Elizabeth Hospital, was named to head the speakers' bureau for which speakers will be recruited by Dr. Safdar and other medical leaders.

A nurses committee will be headed by Ruth A. Schroeder and Marge Hilker, two Granite City nurses. A constitutional committee was formed, headed by Charles R. May of Alton. That committee hopes to draw up a constitution for approval at the next meeting so that incorporation of the Hospice program as a non-profit corporation can proceed.

Dr. Safdar explained that most nurses and social workers participating in Hospice will need to be volunteers as a means of cutting costs. He noted that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has made Medicare and Medicaid funds available for acceptable programs submitted by Jan. 15.

At present, he said, there is no insurance coverage for the care of terminally ill patients, although he expects the time to come that such programs will be accepted for coverage.

Murder charged in GC shooting

Mark Kevin Jones, 22, of 2296 Washington Ave., was named in a murder warrant Monday in connection with the shooting death of Martin Hutchinson, 30, of 1216 Meridian Ave., who died at 9:18 a.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mr. Hutchinson was shot in the chest in the home of Jones' sister, Cindy Jones, in the 2200 block of Washington Avenue. An officer on patrol was stopped in front of the apartment building by a man who said there was a fight in progress in an upstairs apartment.

The officer found Mr. Hutchinson lying on the kitchen floor, bleeding from a wound to the middle of his chest. He was taken by ambulance to the Granite City hospital, where he died about two hours later. Jones was taken into custody at 5 p.m. Saturday and a warrant charging murder was approved Monday by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Bond was set at $100,000. Jones was transferred on mittimus to Madison County Jail in Edwardsville. Mr. Hutchinson was shot once in the chest with a 9mm. semi-automatic pistol. Other people were in the apartment when the shooting occurred, police said.

Halloween tricksters out from 6-9 Oct. 31

Trick or treat house calls will be limited to a three-hour period on Halloween night, Tuesday, Oct. 31, it was announced today by police chiefs in the Quad-City area.

Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Vetter, Venice Police Chief Ralph D. Brawley, Madison Chief Donald Hradick and Pontoon Beach Chief Rosewell Bennett are urging parents to confine their youngsters' haunting adventures to their own immediate neighborhood between the hours of 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Oct. 31.

The police chiefs also stressed that children under 7 years should be accompanied by a parent or guardian of responsible age while the youngsters are parading or touring neighborhoods.

The recommended curfew hours during the Halloween period primarily are set for the protection of the children, the police chiefs stated.

However, the restricted trick or treat period also helps to discourage excessive acts of vandalism that usually occur in the late hours, the area officers said.

Other precautionary measures suggested by the chiefs of police, include: All costumes should be fire resistant and short enough to prevent tripping; masks and other head and face covering should not restrict breathing or obscure vision and should be easily removable.

Children should carry flashlights (not candles or other open flames) and reflective tape should be sewn on the front and back of their costumes to make them more visible to motorists.

Motorists, in turn, should drive with extra caution on Halloween, as pirates, witches and other small characters dressed in black, present a very real hazard, the police chiefs said.

Youthful trick or treaters should be warned to cross streets only at intersections, after first removing face masks and carefully looking both ways.

Moore Parade Chairman Don Seitzer said the Halloween night parade in Downtown Granite City will start at 7:30 Tuesday, Oct. 31, from the City Hall on Niedringhaus Avenue.

Paraders should be at the assembly point between 7 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. to receive

His major hobby is singing with a group known as "Artesia."

Recer is in the cooperative work program and is learning the welding trade, working for his father who operates Certified Welding Co.

"It took me awhile to realize what was happening and figure it all out. I was in a total daze. I don't want to thank all the students," Recer said.

The queen, king and the court will be presented again tonight after the homecoming play.

Announcement of the queen and king is kept secret until after the presentation of the court at the play Wednesday night.

Tacky clothes will be expected today and a "gong show" will be held during the sixth and seventh hours.

Sixteen floats will be entered in the Friday parade, competing for first, second and third prizes provided by the North Student Council.

3 convicted men called to testify

Three former Madison policemen who were convicted of racketeering and perjury in federal court this summer have been subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury in Springfield Tuesday, Oct. 24, the Press-Record has learned.

Ronald Grzywacz, former Madison policeman who was replaced after sentencing, former Madison police sergeant Richard Krieschok and former officer Edward Gochan have received subpoenas to testify, sources said today.

It was learned they have met with their attorneys and are discussing whether they should testify—or whether invoking their Fifth Amendment rights against self-incrimination would be more appropriate while they are appealing their convictions and sentences.

Since grand jury proceedings are secret, under federal law, it is not known what areas the jury is exploring. But U.S. attorney Gerald Fines has indicated publicly that his office has been continuing an investigation of Madison County government.

Last month, Krieschok told the Press-Record he did not know what he could tell a grand jury if he was called. "I feel everything I know has been brought out and I don't see how I could help them," Krieschok commented.

He and Gochan face seven year terms in federal prison and Grzywacz a 12-year term, if their appeals fail. They were accused of accepting favors and payoffs from some tavern owners in return for allowing prostitution and late closing hours in Madison.

Sheriff John Maers and his chief of field operations, Capt. John Cooper, said they would decline to testify if called at the trial of the three former officers, invoking their Fifth Amendment rights if summoned by either the prosecution or defense.

Youth held after chase

Richard Scott, 19, of Berkeley, Mo., was being held today in the Madison County Jail after police alleged chasing his car from Interstate 55 near Livingston to Interstate 270 and Route 111 during rush hour Wednesday evening.

State Police Sgt. Leland Storm saw the car southbound near Livingston and began the chase on Interstate 55. Storm alleged the car exceeded 100 miles-per-hour during the chase, which began about 5:10 p.m. Wednesday.

The pursued vehicle turned west on Interstate 270 with several vehicles from the state police and other departments chasing it. At Route 111, the auto stopped, possibly from mechanical problems, and the driver and a passenger fled on foot.

They were arrested nearby by state troopers. The 18-year-old passenger has been released without charges, a spokesman said.

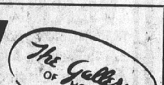

Scott is charged with driving while intoxicated, speeding (110 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone), driving while his license was suspended, fleeing from police and improper lane usage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Brandt, 2912 Edwards St., will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Oct. 28.

The couple was married Oct. 28, 1928, at the former St. Leo's Catholic Church in St. Louis.

Mrs. Brandt is the former Miss Mae Louise Steele.

Presently, she is a patient in Room 334 at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where she may have to remain for an extended stay.

Mrs. Brandt suffered a severe stroke about four years ago and has resided at the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville for some time.

She was transferred last week to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mr. Brandt is a former president of Bricklayers Local 65 of Granite City.

He started as an apprentice bricklayer in St. Louis about 50 years ago. In 1975, he received a 40-year pin from Local 65, denoting his years of service in that local.

Mr. Brandt was employed in the Brick Department at Granite City Steel for more than 35 years, retiring from the company in 1971.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandt are the parents of William E. Brandt, a Granite City attorney, and Harry J. Brandt of Edwardsville.

They have six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The honorees are members of St. Joseph Catholic Church and Mr. Brandt was formerly active in the Knights of Columbus, Tri-Cities Council 1098.

Due to Mrs. Brandt's hospital confinement, only a quiet family celebration is being planned in honor of the couple's golden anniversary, a family spokesman said.

Radman gets injunction against city

The Madison City Council was informed Tuesday night that a temporary injunction has been issued by the Circuit Court to prevent the city from tearing down the property at 321-327 Madison Ave.

City Attorney Casper Nighohossian informed the council he will petition the court for an immediate hearing as Willie Radman, who got the injunction, is not the owner of the property but only a tenant.

The property is owned, according to Nighohossian, by Radman's wife.

Radman claims that he entered an oral agreement with Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk to purchase the building and property.

Sasyk denied the allegation and told the council, "We have been, as you all know, trying to get this property fixed up or torn down and he (Radman) thinks this is all a joke."

The council concurred that every legal means should be used to get the buildings, considered dangerous by the council and building inspector, torn down.

Radman appeared at a City Council meeting several months ago and offered to give the property to the city if it would tear it down, make it into a park and name it after him.

At the Tuesday, Oct. 3, council meeting, the Madison council announced the city would not purchase the property at 321-327 Madison Ave. and would continue all legal procedure to get the property condemned.

Extra facilities—and costs related to them—affect 'condo fever'

Granite City Board of Realtors
There's a new kid on the block. He's growing rapidly. People are fascinated by him, filled with curiosity, bursting with questions.

The object of all this hubbub is the condominium market, the most significant thing to hit the housing industry since high-rise buildings.

Already, more than four million Americans reside in condos, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development estimates that more than 50 percent of us will be occupying some form of condo within 20 years.

What are people asking about condos? A phone survey by the National Association of Realtors of its members across the nation pinpointed questions most frequently asked by prospective buyers and sellers of condos.

Condo buyers ask Realtors the following:

Costs. "How much is the maintenance fee? What does it cover? Can it increase?"

Maintenance fees vary, of course, depending on the size, services offered, type and location of the condo development. Fees, assessed to each unit, provide the "kitty" to cover operating and maintenance expenses of common areas. These would relate to any condo property outside the units: halls, lobby, elevators, recreation areas, etc.

Expenses might include the cost of utilities, heating, air conditioning, garbage removal, janitorial services and upkeep of recreational areas.

Fees may be increased as a result of inflation or improvements and repairs for the complex—or for other reasons approved by the condo association or its governing board.

But, along with the cost of the unit and the maintenance assessment come the benefits of income tax savings and equity buildup for the individual owner.

"People also find out that they generally can get more in square footage for their money than they could in the single-family housing market," notes a Hartford, Conn., Realtor.

Organization. "How will the condo be managed? Is there a condominium association and how much are the fees? How much of a say will I have in the operation?"

Having a voice in the management of the condo is "very important" to prospective buyers, remarks an Indianapolis Realtor. "People want complete information on the condominium association and how it works," says a Seattle Realtor. Many condominium associations rely on professional management to handle the day-to-day operations of the complex.

Other condo associations, especially smaller ones, may perform these functions "in house," utilizing the services of individual unit owners.

Whatever governing system is used, potential condo owners should be made aware that the success of the complex depends on their active, informed participation in their association.

Niceties. "What extras does the condo have to offer? Pool? Tennis courts? Health club? Golf course?"

Says the Hartford Realtor: "People really are turned on to these special features—things that they could never afford alone in a single-family home situation."

Dos and don'ts. "What are the rules, regulations and restrictions of the condo? What about children, pets, guests, noisy neighbors?"

The condo declaration and master deed, which sets down the conditions, covenants and restrictions of the condo, is the buyer's most important document.

Buyers should read it carefully before purchasing to make sure their lifestyle will be compatible with that of other unit owners.

Obviously, condos having restrictions on pets and children are no place for animal lovers or young marrieds planning a family.

A Milwaukee Realtor observes: "buyers should shop around for a condo in step with their life. Realtors can help in that regard. Clusters of compatible such as singles, married couples, married with children and the elderly, can be found in particular condos."

Rights of ownership. "What can I do to my condo unit? Can I decorate it or change it any way I want?" The Realtor will explain to the buyer that, as owner of the unit, he or she can do with the unit as desired as long as the changes don't adversely affect the rest of the condo complex or violate specific rules of the condo association.

"As long as it doesn't hurt the structure or character of the unit, buyers generally can make any changes they want," says one Seattle Realtor.

Surroundings. "What is the neighborhood like: schools, shopping, transportation?" A Phoenix Realtor relates that many people also ask about the mix of people in the condo: their ages, occupations, etc.

Condo sellers consult Realtors about these questions: Condition of the market. "How much is my condo worth and is there a market for it? How long will the sale take?"

Comments the Phoenix Realtor: "The merchandise price is what sellers ask us first." Robert Elrod, president of the Orlando Winter Park

Board of Realtors, says that, in his area, a computer run might be done to provide information on what the seller can expect, based on the conditions of the market.

Overhead. "What costs can I expect to pay in selling my condo?" Says a Seattle Realtor: "Really, what they want to know is: 'How much will I net?'"

Sale preparations. "What do I need to do to make my condo more presentable?" Mrs. Helen Mahne, president-elect of the Billings Board of Realtors, says, "I tell sellers first to give their condo a good cleaning."

Other hints from Realtors might include repainting, making needed repairs or rearranging furniture.

The condominium—the new kid on the block—just may become the hottest property in town. With the help of a Realtor, the buyer or seller will have the cool head and clear vision to handle "condo fever."

Anthony LeRose, 71, dies here

Anthony C. LeRose, 71, of 906 Iowa St., Madison, died at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he had been a patient one day. He had been in ill health two weeks.

Mr. LeRose retired Feb. 29, 1972, at Granite City Steel after 22 years of service.

He was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church and also belonged to the Steelworkers Local 67. Born in Italy, Mr. LeRose resided in St. Louis prior to moving to Madison 46 years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Martha A. (Ziolkowski) LeRose; two daughters, Mrs. Wayne (Rose Mary) Baumeyer of Granite City, and Mrs. Coke (Marsha) Gordon of Madison; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Maeras named in $600,000 suit

Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Randy Lamb and former deputy Richard Anderson have filed a $600,000 lawsuit against Sheriff John Maeras, alleging that punishments given them for cooperating with federal agents were "with wanton and willful disregard for (their) constitutional rights."

The two deputies were in the limelight when a federal probe of the sheriff's department and county government came to light and the deputies appeared on television and were quoted in newspapers.

Subsequently, each was suspended without pay for 30 days in November, 1977, on charges of violating departmental rules. Lamb was reinstated with full back pay while Anderson was discharged permanently by the Sheriff's Merit Commission.

The suit seeks $300,000 in actual damages and $300,000 in exemplary damages from Maeras. It alleges that from about Jan. 1, 1977, when the two cooperated with the FBI probe and the federal grand jury investigation, they were subjected to acts of reprisal.

"That as a result of the exercise of free speech before the FBI and the grand jury, the sheriff charged plaintiffs with violating certain rules, regulations and procedures of the sheriff's department," according to the suit.

It alleges that as the result of the actions against them, they suffered lost wages or increased earnings, mental anguish and slander of their character.

The sheriff's department spokesman, Robert Hertz, declined comment on the suit. The Madison County state's attorney's office will defend Maeras.

Navy Mothers plan chicken dinner

The Quad-City Navy Mothers, Chapter 850, finalized plans for a chicken and dumpling dinner they will sponsor on Saturday, Nov. 11, during a monthly meeting held last week at the VFW Hall.

The dinner will be held at the Moose Lodge hall, according to Commander Mrs. Stella Miller.

While discussing business events, the members agreed to contribute funds to a veteran's school age son for an eye examination and the purchase of eyeglasses.

Mrs. Miller said mothers of men now serving or who previously served in the U.S. Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guards are invited to attend a meeting as guest and are welcome to become members.

Meetings are conducted on the first and fourth Thursday of each month, she added.

Games were played after the session and the special prize was won by Margaret Mizes and the mystery package went to Marylee Busler.

Wilbert Engélkes visit Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert (Georgia) Engélkes of Granite City, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schult of Glenview, Ill., have returned home from a business and pleasure trip to Europe.

They traveled by car from Hertz, Germany, to Belgium, Holland, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Liechtenstein and France. The group traveled on autobahn from one city to the other on "beautiful and clean highways with no holes" according to the local family.

Included in their itinerary was an excursion on the Rhine River where they viewed a large river traffic, picturesque wine towns, steep vineyards, the Lorey Rock and castles.

While in Brussels, Belgium the travelers went to the Agricultural Building and American Embassy and met with the director of International Marketing of the State of Illinois. Engélkes had met the director at a marketing seminar at the University of Illinois, and the director had made appointments with a horse-drawn buyer in Hamburg for Engélkes.

Continuing the trip the group visited larger cities including Antwerp, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Bremen, East and West Berlin, Salzburg, Austria, Luzern Switzerland and Munich. Some of the smaller vacation places were Oberammergau, Garmisch, Germany, Seefeld and Innsbruck, Austria.

In Munich they attended the Octoberfest and met many school children on tour who had studied "school English."

Before returning home the vacationists visited with five cousins of Engélkes who live near Bremerhaven. They all live in modern homes and everyone is working in Germany, the local couple added.

They noted food and hotel rooms are very expensive in Europe and enjoyed traveling by car.

Fitzgerald, Granite City salon manager; Granite City Mayor Paul Schulz, participating in the ribbon cutting; Donna Smith, district manager for Elaine Powers, and Edward F. Reiske, executive vice-president of the Chamber. There are nine Elaine Powers Figure Salons in this metropolitan area and 230 in the United States.

Elaine Powers Figure Salon has grand opening

Granite City Mayor Paul Schulz did the honors at ribbon-cutting ceremonies Tuesday marking the opening of the new Elaine Powers Figure Salon at 3675H Nameoki Road, Granite City.

Assisted by Chamber of Commerce President Roger Higgins and Mrs. Lois Winter, president of the Chamber's Women's Division, Mayor Schulz snipped a red ribbon wound around the salon's exercise bikes to kick off the grand opening.

According to Elaine Powers Regional Manager Elliot Levy, the opening of the salon "provides an ideal opportunity for the figure-conscious women in the Quad-City area. From our experience with our St. Louis area salons, we know that our new members will love Elaine Powers!"

His remarks were emphasized by Mrs. Charlotte Fitzgerald, manager of the new salon, who said, "We offer a no-nonsense program based on the proven principles that the only effective method of figure control is to combine sensible eating with sensible activity. Elaine Powers," she continued, "will provide Granite City women with a pleasant, relaxing atmosphere in which to improve their physical appearance."

Elaine Powers, with over 230 salons across the country, is the nation's largest figure control system designed exclusively for women.

The philosophy is based on "a sensible but fun approach toward improving every woman's physical appearance through the development of sound eating habits and carefully controlled, individually designed exercise programs." Mrs. Fitzgerald reported that during the grand opening period now in progress, new members will be able to take advantage of a special price reduction of $2.95 per week for the complete 13-week program at the new salon and eight other salons. Regularly priced at $4 per week, the complete program features unlimited salon visits. The eight additional salons offering special price reductions are: 1719 S. Brentwood Blvd., Brentwood; 10945 St. Charles Rock Road, Cypress Village, St. Ann; 9230 Watson Road, Crestview Shopping Center, Crestwood; 1 Show-Me Plaza, St. Charles; 5853 Chipewa, St. Louis; 13131 New Halls Ferry Road, Plaza Madrid Shopping Center, Florissant; 2934 Telegraph Road, Franview Plaza, St. Louis; and 1168 Manchester Road, Manchester.

Diagnostic clinic for handicapped here Oct. 24

The Granite City Elks Lodge, in cooperation with the Illinois Elks Crippled Children's Commission, will sponsor a free diagnostic clinic for physically handicapped children on Tuesday, Oct. 24, from noon till 3 p.m.

George Grimm, chairman of the local Elks committee, said the clinic will be held at the Elks Club and the general public is being invited to participate. Children with orthopedic problems, including those who have been examined at previous clinics and those physically handicapped in any way, may attend for evaluation.

Children from newborn to 21 years of age are welcome. They should be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Family physicians are being invited to send patients they feel might benefit from this service, as well as patients needing physical therapy. School nurses are to refer any handicapped child they might have contact with.

"All Elks with children should take advantage of this clinic, even though there seems to be no problem. You may feel there is nothing wrong, but why not be sure?" Grimm commented. "The Elks of Illinois are sponsoring clinics in 65 lodge areas, with 88 clinics being held this year, such clinics having been started 50 years ago. "They have provided medical care, hospital care, operations, prosthesis and physical therapy during most of this period. There will be no charge for services rendered at this clinic."

ARCHBISHOP JOSEPH L. BERNARDIN

Archbishop Bernardin will speak

Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati will give the principal address at the Friday evening dinner of the Diocesan Religious Education Conference Oct. 27 and 28 at the Forum 30 Hotel in Springfield. His topic, "A Church Alive: Partners in Ministry," will examine the Vatican and recent U.S. bishops' statements in the light of different yet cooperating ministries that exist in the Catholic Church.

Archbishop Bernardin is the present chairman of the National Catholic Educational Association board, and past president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. According to the Rev. Kevin B. Sullivan, diocesan director of the Office of Religious Education, this first diocesan religious education conference will provide several faith-enrichment opportunities for Catholic adults at all levels on both days. There will be four general and 45 special interest sessions offered throughout the conference.

General session speakers on Saturday will include Dolores Curran, a nationally known author and lecturer on family-centered religious education. Her topic will be: "Working Together Means Sharing the Vision," describing from a parent's perspective the relationships of teacher, parent and priest in a total parish faith community.

Other topics will be: "Adult Stages of Development"; "Spiritual Crises and Adult Growth"; "Sacramentality of Daily Living"; "The Traditioning Community"; "Preparing Today's Family for Tomorrow"; "The Why and How of Adult Learning in the Parish"; "TV: the Flickering Blue Parent"; "Fostering Catholic Dads"; "Faith Growth and the Family"; "A Look at the Future of Adult Religious Education" and "Models of Church".

Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas will address the entire assembly on the opening afternoon, and be principal celebrant and homilist at the 4 p.m. Eucharistic liturgy in the Cathedral on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 28.

Pre-registration is preferred, but registration for the conference sessions can be made at the door both days. Dinner reservations, however, must be in the Office of Religious Education by Oct. 23.

The entire conference reservation, including dinner, is $10; Friday or Saturday only sessions are $3 per day; and dinner-only reservations are $8. Quad-Cityans may write or call: ORE, 800 S. 5th St., Springfield 62703, (217) 789-0902.

Smith buys plant site in South, notes need for a competitive edge

A. O. Smith Corporation's Automotive Division has purchased an 83-acre tract of land near Milan, Tenn., as the site of a future manufacturing plant, it was announced Tuesday by David H. Stieber, vice-president of A. O. Smith and general manager of the Automotive Division.

Stieber said the purchase ends a year-long search for an expansion site which "has good proximity to customer shipping locations, provides easy access to raw material sources, and has an attractive labor market from which to draw employees."

The Automotive Division of A. O. Smith is the nation's largest manufacturer of automobile and truck frames and automobile control arms.

Its customers include nearly every major car and truck builder in the U.S. The division had sales in 1977 of $46 million.

Announcement of the land purchase was made late Tuesday morning at a news conference at the Milan City Hall, attended by A. O. Smith executives and local officials.

The 83-acre site is currently used for agricultural purposes and was owned by W. F. Jones and Haywood Westers, both of the Milan area. No purchase price was announced.

Stieber said he is "very pleased with the help provided by local, county and state government officials and private citizens in supplying information and other assistance on the Milan site. "It is very clear," he said, "that the people here feel we will be a welcome addition to this fine community."

Construction of the plant may not begin for some time, Stieber said, because of a number of uncertainties. The actual product to be manufactured in the new plant has not yet been decided, because negotiations with potential customers are continuing. It will, however, be some type of structural assembly for the automotive industry.

The plant is built and operating, it will employ about 250 people, with growth to approximately 600 people in the long term. The site is large enough, Stieber noted, to accommodate future building expansion if required.

Stieber said one of the basic considerations in purchasing land in Milan and planning for a new plant was a need to establish a manufacturing facility for growth products on which the company currently cannot favorably compete.

The Automotive Division is the largest single operating unit of A. O. Smith and has plants in Milwaukee, Wis., and Granite City, Ill.

In addition, the company manufactures residential and commercial water heaters, livestock feeding and waste handling systems, electric motors, reinforced plastic pipe and glass coating materials. It also markets data processing services.

A. O. Smith had sales in 1977 of $727 million and ranked 297th on Fortune magazine's list of the country's 500 largest industrial companies.

Marriages in Madison County during September increased by 16.8 percent over those during the same month in 1977, according to a vital statistics report released by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles at Edwardsville. The report shows a total of 294 marriages last month, up 38 over the 226 reported in September 1977. The number of marriages and deaths declined during the month, according to the report, with a total of 299 births (146 boys and 153 girls). Births in September 1977 totaled 321 (159 boys and 162 girls). Deaths during the month totaled 138, down from 157 reported during the same month a year ago. The report said births reported during the month included four sets of twins, compared to one set included in births during September 1977.

Kidney dialysis in homes will increase, but problems remain

Proposed changes in federal funding will create a change in treating kidney disease by leading to more hemodialysis at home, according to an article in the Annals of Internal Medicine. This change will not only reduce costs, but will also impose added tasks on physicians, it is being noted. Selection of patients will be from dialysis centers or hospitals, and the centers will seek to select patients capable of taking proper training to achieve results at home. To achieve the results, they must have a vascular access constructed at least six to twelve months before they actually need it, the article says. In Annals of Internal Medicine, Capt. Lucius F. Wright and Lt. Col. W. Duke Myers, both of the Army Medical Corps, discuss the entire situation, with emphasis on vascular access, the cardiovascular system and hematologic and renal failure problems. "Annals" is the official journal of the American College of Physicians, a national professional association of more than 40,000 specialists in internal medicine and related areas. The report goes on to say that access infections are usually caused by staphylococcus aureus.

Treatment is with intravenous vancomycin (500 to 1,000 mgs and 250 ml of five percent dextrose in water) at the end of dialysis.

Clotting, a far more common problem than infection, occurs when blood flow through the access is impeded. Many patients suffer from cardiovascular problems, such as hypertension, angina pectoris and myocardial infarction which are hard to manage in the dialysis patient, the doctors say.

Hematologic problems, such as anemia, are common. Routine tests — and dialysis itself — cause blood loss and the authors favor taking blood samples once a month.

Bone problems are intensified; hypocalcemia appears early in progressive renal failure. Thus, patients with chronic renal failure are usually in negative calcium balance. Muscle cramps are common, too.

Neurologic disorders may be encountered. And the area of drugs whose prescriptions must be changed for dialysis patients is of growing concern.

Sexual problems in both men and women can cause psychological disorders. Still, the article notes that home dialysis patients do not get all of these problems — and the internist should guard against a negative attitude.

The home dialysis patient should be aware of technical errors and avoid them, the authors say.

The two most common errors are hypotension and disequilibrium. If they do happen, the patient should return to the dialysis center and wait for re-evaluation of the dialysis procedure, the article concludes.

Jaycees to sponsor Haunted House here

The structure at 1885 Poplar St. will become "haunted" very soon, according to Bob Burgess, chairman of the Granite City Chapter of the Jaycees which again will operate its Halloween "Haunted House."

The Jaycees will open Thursday, Oct. 26, and will remain open through Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 6:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m.

The Jaycees will use the proceeds from their attraction to help the Cahokia Mound Scout Council build staff cabins at Camp Sunnen.

Burgess said their house will have as resident creatures Count Dracula, Frankenstein's monster, the Mummy and many other season characters.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Tender care promised for streets getting new sewers

Sanitary sewer installation can mean progress for a community.

It also means torn-up streets... a particular worry as cold weather approaches.

The Chouteau-Nameoki-Venice townships sewer project is progressing, but it's an immense undertaking which was initially delayed by long court deliberations and was delayed again in late summer by construction laborers' disagreement with contractors.

At a mid-October meeting chaired by Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter Sparks, who heads the Madison County Board's Special Sewer Committee, street restoration plans were reviewed in detail.

The contractor is proceeding with oil and chips on Divisions 12 and 44 of the project, while Division 7 at Mitchell will be resurfaced next spring. Special efforts will be made to keep the latter area in good repair throughout the winter.

Streets where sewers have not yet been constructed also present a problem, in many instances.

Thousands of truckloads of material have been delivered to job sites, including rock, sand, backfill, oil, chips, pipe material and manhole castings. Ultimately, about 100,000 truckloads of material will have been moved, and at least some road damage is regarded as unavoidable.

The engineer and contractor will check street surfaces upon the completion of each division, and roads in need of resurfacing will be improved. Whether A1, A2 or A3 road treatment is required will be determined by the project engineer.

Truck traffic will be routed to areas where it will do the least damage, those at the meeting with oil and chips on Divisions 8, 9 and 12, the contractor will meet with road commissioners and outline truck routes.

"Some oiling and chips by local communities will be discontinued to avoid duplication of effort," a spokesman said.

"It was the consensus that some legitimate complaints from property owners need to be resolved, and that many crank calls also are received."

"Supervisor Sparks volunteered to talk to any property owners having problems, and will furnish the contractor with his business cards. Attorney Larry Calvo also will provide cards for presentation to those having easement problems."

"The contractor will try to solve such problems in the field before contacting Sparks or Calvo."

"Yellow sheets for requests or complaints will be filled out, with one copy sent to the contractor for proper distribution of the forms and appropriate action. This is being done because verbal communications sometimes become misleading after passing from person to person."

Barbershop singers plan auditions for members

The Mississippi Valley Chorus of the Collinsville chapter of SPEBSQSA (The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.) will conduct auditions for membership night Monday, Oct. 23 at 8 p.m.

Members of the chorus from Troy, Collinsville, Granite City, Highland, Edwardsville, Madison and surrounding areas make up the chapter which meets at the Collinsville Savings and Loan Building, 321 E. Belt Line, Collinsville, at 8 p.m. on Mondays.

Anyone who likes to sing is invited to attend the auditions for membership, a spokesman said.

The SPEBSQSA is an international organization with over 36,000 members from every state in the U.S. and most Canadian Provinces.

The society attracts men from all trades, all professions, all religions and politics. The one thing they all have in common is a love of good male vocal harmony, the spokesman added.

"While other groups are organized for civic, fraternal and social purposes, this chapter is organized to sing. Through their singing they also enjoy civic, fraternal and social activities, thus combining the benefits of several clubs in one," the spokesman noted.

Approximately one-third of the chapter's membership is from the Quad-Cities. For further information, Quad-Cities may call 876-4003.

Cheese—it's a real Dutch treat

By BETTY PEACH

ALKMAAR, Holland — everything in this 1,100-year-old city sits on a water-bound plot of ground, and on Fridays is permeated by the delightful aroma of cheese.

Not just any cheese, but special cheeses produced locally and sold for consumption the world over. There are two basic shapes — pale yellow wheels flat on top and bottom, and deeper yellow cheeses that look like rows of stacked cannon balls.

They are generally identified as Edam and Gouda, tangy and full-flavored. When they are shipped overseas, their yellow coats are encased in red wax to protect the semi-soft, mellow, buttery texture. Originally, Edam cheese came only from the village of Edam 20 miles southeast of Alkmaar, and Gouda from the village of Gouda, about 50 miles southwest.

Now the classics are produced in other areas of this dairyland as well, sold mainly through Alkmaar markets, but not exclusively. All those exported will bear "Holland Edam" or "Holland Gouda" labels.

Row after row of cheese-laden pallets fill the open court in front of the weighing house, with little men moving the official buyer, a knowledgeable gentleman with his silver hair unobscured from the mist. He picks up a cheese from a pallet, inserts a hollow steel core and extracts a sample, slices off a bite and tastes. His expression never changes as he replaces the plug, but the red mark he makes on the cheese indicates whether the lot is purchased or passed. Behind him come the white clad porters, each in a flat, shakelack hat of a color that distinguishes the Porters' Guild. Cheeses are transferred to cradles, the porters lift them on black harnesses, and trot away.

A rule of the technique of balancing a cradle heaped with cheese — the hands never touch the cradle. It sways between the men who carry the entire weight suspended from their shoulders.

The unsold cheeses are not unsold for long. As soon as the cradles have been carried to the weighing house, the remaining cheeses are sold to local markets, where the thousands of visitors who came to watch the pageant of the old market promptly buy them one by one.

The weighing house was built as a chapel in 1386, but was converted into a weighing house in 1582, with its tower added about 15 years later.

Another major attraction is the Church of St. Lawrence, built between 1470 and 1518. It has a splendid organ, and it is used for half-hour recitals each Friday morning, offering soothing music after the noisy bustle of the cheese market.

Holland cheeses are long in history. Pilgrim fathers who left England for the New World carried thick wheels aboard the Mayflower.

They are rich in vitamin A and in protein, and have distinctive flavors that go well with many foods. For best flavor, remove from refrigerator half an hour before serving.

There are hundreds of fine ways to serve cheese beyond a room temperature, with crackers and chilled Holland beer. Direct from the Dutch come these:

HOLLAND CHEESE CHICKEN ROLLS
4 chicken breasts, skinned and boned
8 wedges Gouda cheese
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup fine bread crumbs
oil for deep frying
Cut chicken breasts in half. Pound with wooden mallet to about 1/4-inch thickness. Place cheese wedge on each chicken piece, roll and tie in ends so cheese is enclosed. Secure with a wooden skewer. Dredge in flour, then dip in beaten egg. Roll in bread crumbs. Let stand about 15 minutes to dry. Heat oil to 325 degrees. Deep fry each piece until golden brown, about 10 minutes. Drain on paper towels. Decorate with a strip of red sweet pepper or canned pimiento, and chopped parsley. Serves four.

Use the red-coated Edam round as both the food and the serving bowl for this appetizer.

BUTTERED PECAN EDAM BOWL
One 2-lb. Edam cheese at room temperature
One-third cup beer
2 tbsps. soft butter
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tabasco
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Slice off top of cheese at about three-inch diameter. Do not remove red wax coating from ball. Carefully scoop out the cheese, leaving a 4-inch shell for a bowl. Cut zigzag pattern around top for decorative design. Scoop out cheese from the cut top and from the zigzag border. Shred the scooped out cheese. Gradually blend shredded cheese with the other ingredients until it is soft enough to spread. If necessary, add a bit more beer or a little milk. Heap the mixture into the shell. Cover and refrigerate until half an hour before serving.

DUTCH TWISTS
1 cup shredded Edam or Gouda
1 package pie crust mix
1 egg white salt

Add shredded cheese to pie crust mix and prepare according to package instructions. Roll dough 1/4-inch thick. Brush with egg white and sprinkle with salt and nutmeg. Cut in strips 1/4 inch wide and five inches long. Twist by holding each end and turning in opposite directions. Press ends down on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) ten minutes or until golden. Makes about 40.
The round cheeses not only resemble stacked cannon balls, they have served as such. In 1641, the American-led Uruguayan navy ran out of ammunition, but substituted Dutch Edams and defeated the British-led Argentine navy.

BOERENKAAS SOEP
(Farmers Cheese Soup)
4 tbsps. butter
1 cup finely chopped carrots
2 carrots, scraped and diced (1/4-inch dice)
2 boiling potatoes, peeled and diced (1/4-inch dice)
1/2 lb. cauliflower, cut into small flowerets
1/2 lb. celery root, peeled and diced (1/4-inch dice)
1 qt. chicken stock, fresh or canned
4 lean bacon slices
4 slices homemade white bread, cut 1/4-inch thick, crust removed
1/2 lb. Gouda cheese, in 1/4-inch slices

Melt butter in 3-quart saucepan. Add onions, carrots, potatoes, cauliflower and celery root. Stirring frequently, cook about five minutes. Add stock. Bring to boil then lower heat. Simmer, partially covered, 20 minutes, until vegetables are barely tender.
In a skillet, fry bacon until brown and crisp around edges, and slices are rendered of most of their fat. Drain on paper towels. Add bread slices to fat in skillet and fry until crisp and brown on both sides. Drain on paper towels.

Just before serving, preheat broiler to highest setting. Pour soup into 2-quart ovenproof casserole or tureen. Place bacon on soup and cover each slice of bacon with a slice of bread, then of cheese, so they cover the surface of the soup.
Broil about three inches from heat for two to three minutes, until cheese melts and turns brown.

Cosentino here; backs community loan plan

Democratic state treasurer candidate Jerome Cosentino said during campaign appearances here this week that he has some old-fashioned ideas about campaigning. He spoke Sunday night at Madison County Democrats' JFK memorial dance at St. Mary's parish hall in Madison, Monday night at the Madison Firemen's Hall and Tuesday in Alton.

"I believe a candidate should take a position and stick to it," the 47-year-old Palos Heights resident said. "I think also that in a state such as Illinois, with its big Chicago metropolitan area, that a candidate not tell one story in Chicago and another Downstate."

"Out here I live in suburbia, people aren't fooled when they see a candidate talking a different 'line' for a different audience," Cosentino asserted.

Since he launched his campaign more than a year ago, Cosentino said, he has stressed his experience in both the private and public finance areas. He has also said he is committed "100 percent" to continuation of the community service program of investment of idle state funds by the state treasurer.

"Some banks previously took state deposits and merely bought U.S. Treasury notes. That policy is easy for banks to make a profit off of state funds, but it is sterile insofar as bringing benefits to a community."

"I want to keep state funds working for people," Cosentino stressed. "I want to keep the policies of Adlai Stevenson and Alan J. Dixon."

"When you have a good policy or a program that's working, you don't dump it. The community service program has been a model for the nation; Colorado is the latest of the states that copied it. I want to improve it. And I want to expand it if we can."

"My opponent started out his campaign saying he wanted to abolish the program," Cosentino said. "He told a Northern Illinois audience he wanted to put more funds up for grabs in Southern Illinois."

"But when he went before a Decatur audience of the Illinois Press Association, he said he wasn't opposed to the program. He said he had built a $700 investment in one truck in 1969 into a motor service that grossed $10 million last year. As an elected official, he said, he has guided and overseen investment of idle funds that brought taxpayers $23 million in interest in four years."

Cosentino pointed out that last year $6.4 million of the state deposits in Madison County banks were there because of the CSP program. In St. Clair County, $5.2 million of $20.8 million represented CSP deposits.

State plans to sell bonds

General obligation bonds totaling $40 million will be offered for sale by the State of Illinois on Nov. 14. Director of the Bureau of Budget Robert L. Mandeville said sealed bids will be received until 11 a.m., central standard time, Nov. 14, in Room 1122, 205 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago.

The state's last general obligation bond sale was June 13, with $150 million in bonds sold to a group led by the Northern Trust Company of Chicago at a net interest rate of 5.511662 percent. The Bond Buyer 20-bond index was at 6.18 percent at the sale time.

Maturities of the bonds offered Nov. 14 will be $5.6 million due Dec. 1 of each year during the period 1979 through 2003. Interest is payable semi-annually, with the average bond maturity to be 13 years.

2 hurt on Pontoon
David E. Partney, 34, of 2273 Shiels Drive, and Michael Vesce, 19, of 2347 Zippel Ave., were injured when their vehicles collided at Pontoon and Johnson roads at 1:05 a.m. Wednesday.

Partney suffered minor injuries which did not require hospital treatment, but Vesce was taken by Granite City Hospital to St. Elizabeth's Hospital with injuries to his right side and an abrasion to his right lower leg. X-rays were taken and he was released.

COLLINSVILLE — The Granite City South soccer team players bus sounded like a party was going on.

Elated players — some attending to bumps and bruises but nonetheless happy — whooped it up. Meanwhile, Coach Gene Baker met with reporters.

It was a happy sight for Granite City South fans.

But then, Tuesday's 4-2 victory by South over Collinsville was something for South's fans — and players — to cheer about.

The Warriors had stormed back from a 2-0 deficit at the end of the first quarter to take a 3-2 lead at halftime and win the game going away.

And one player was just a bit happier than the rest, Fred Schuler sat on the bus and made a little more noise than the rest — if that was possible.

THE REASON for that was simple. Schuler had just scored three of South's four goals, including one at the 17:12 mark of the final period that iced the game away.

"In all my years of coaching, Fred's effort tonight has got to be one of the finest individual ones I've ever seen," said Baker. "He gets out there in the center of the action, never gives up and uses the skills he has very nicely."

Yardstick

	South	Collville
Shots on goal	19	5
Corner kicks	14	1
Goal saves	2	6
Fouls	26	28

But it took Schuler — and the rest of the South squad — a little over a quarter to get the act in gear. And by then things obviously weren't going their way.

Collinsville came out of the locker room fired-up and determined to break the string of losses to South that extends back to the time that soccer was initiated at both schools.

And 7:24 into the game, it appeared as if the Kahoks were going to accomplish their goal.

AT THAT POINT, Collinsville's Jim Steinwagner stole an errant South pass directly in front of the Warriors' goal, just inside the penalty area. He gained control, evaded the South defense, and shot a bullet past South goalie Andy Costello into the upper right corner of the goal.

"Their first goal was a real beauty," said Baker. "He (Steinwagner) showed real good ball-control and his shot was a hard one to stop."

Just over three minutes later — at the 4:57 mark on the clock — visions of a Kahok roar danced in the heads of Collinsville fans.

THAT'S WHEN Brian Hess, having been awarded a free kick, shot another winner that found its way into the net.

Just three minutes later, Schuler took a long pass from Danny DeRousse and streaked unscathed in on Beloraydic and boomed a shot that the time went into the lower right-hand corner.

COLLINSVILLE'S Stranz

But just as his team gained that two-goal lead, Collinsville coach Jim Stranz got a little leary of what might happen. "I got scared when we went up 2-0," said Stranz. "I was afraid we'd let down and try to play defense and not take the game to South like we had been."

Stranz was right. After the second Kahok goal, the momentum shifted to South, and the Kahoks said adeau to Costello and the Warriors' end of the field.

But South wasn't without its chances at first-quarter goals.

With about 12:07 remaining in the period, Phil Beloraydic took an over-the-head shot that Collinsville goalie Bob Beloraydic grabbed.

IN THE SECOND quarter, South went to work. At the 7:06 mark, Schuler got his first goal, but not without also getting a few bruises on his shins and stirring up a little dust.

On a South drive downfield, Schuler stole a pass away from a Collinsville defender, dribbled around the remaining defense, and took a shot that went through the goal mouth and into the lower left-hand corner of the net.

Just three minutes later, Schuler took a long pass from Danny DeRousse and streaked unscathed in on Beloraydic and boomed a shot that the time went into the lower right-hand corner.

COLLINSVILLE'S Stranz

praised Schuler's efforts. "You've got to give credit where credit's due," he said. "Schuler played a hell of a game tonight. Those were great individual efforts."

According to official statistics, South had only one assist in the game. But you'd almost have to give goalie Costello one on the goal that turned out to be the winning one for the Warriors.

COSTELLO, after stopping a Collinsville shot, waited for his team to get set up and then boomed a punt some 60 yards in the air that teammate David Fernandez settled when it came to earth.

almost five yards ahead of the nearest Collinsville defender and racing toward the Kahoks' goal. Fernandez then had a shot that Beloraydic stopped.

Beloraydic then had a shot blocked by the defense.

But waiting for the rebound was South's "garbage man," Frank Schwartzkopf. He fired the ball past a sprawling Beloraydic and gave South the lead with 30 seconds remaining in the first half.

Schwartzkopf has a tendency to be in the right place at the right time this season.

He's somewhat like Phil Esposto in hockey — roaming around the goal mouth to fire in whatever happens to be lying in the area.

THY AS THEY DID in the third period, South couldn't get the hat-trick for Schuler. The best chance came when — on another breakaway — Schuler fired a shot that was blocked by the Collinsville goalie, but then came loose. However, Schuler had over-run the ball by that time and couldn't get control of it with the open net staring him in the face.

Schuler finally got his third goal with 17:12 showing on the clock on another unassisted effort.

Baker had his own idea of why Schuler had such a good game. "First of all, he's a gutsy-type of player," he said. "But the fact that they were keying on (David) Fernandez all night left a little more room in Fred's area."

"THEY MAY HAVE been able to control Fernandez a little, but that meant somebody else had to be open."

"We started talking a little more in the second quarter and more in the third quarter when we wanted to," he added.

"We're finally starting to play with a little more intent."

In junior varsity action, South ended Collinsville's hopes of an unbeaten JV season when the Junior Warriors downed them 1-0 on a fourth-quarter goal by Tim Dix, assisted by Kelly Mann.

Warriorettes defeat North, 6-1

District seeds are released

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South's girls tennis team continued its dominance over sister-school GCHS North here Tuesday, downing the Steelers 6-1.

Christy Bauer, South's number one singles player, had an easy time with North's Lisa McKee, downing her 6-0, 6-1.

Junior Laura Gabriel, one of the area's few unbeaten players, upped her singles record to 12-0 when she easily handled North's Shelly Pohlman by scores of 6-0 and 6-0 in the number two singles match.

"Laura's much more confident than she was a year ago at this time," said South coach Pat Yates. "She seems to be more at ease on the court and doesn't get flustered easily."

"But you wouldn't know it by watching her," said Yates. "To look at the scowl on her face, you'd think she was losing every match."

North's number three singles player, Diane Kwiatkowski won her first set from South's Wendy Kelly 6-3, but despite battling her hard, fell in the second two sets 3-6, 3-6.

South's Sherrie DePew completed the Warriorettes' sweep of singles action with a 6-3, 6-0 victory.

South's number one doubles team of Susan Squires and Susan Bell beat North's duo of Kelli Cottrell and Beth Goff 6-1, 6-4.

Liz Clay and Laura Campbell of North fell in their doubles match to Agatha Gombrowski and Joan Bell of South 3-6, 0-6.

The North number three doubles team of Lori Fyalka and Kellie Blockberger evaded a South sweep of the entire meet when they downed South's Theresa Owsadac and Joy Williams 4-6, 6-3.

Last night at GCHS South, the tennis coaches from the teams entered in this weekend's South District Tourney met to decide on seeds.

Granite City South's doubles team of Christy Bauer and Laura Gabriel were seeded first by unanimous vote. Both have been playing singles all season, but Yates thought they would have a better chance of advancing in the state tournament as a double team.

The rest of the doubles seeds were: Diane Dick and Liz Weber (Alton); 3) Susan Squires and Susan Belle (Sellers); 4) Kris Borowy and Stacy Simon (Collinsville); 5) Jeri Rinder and Terri Taylor (Collinsville); 6) Lisa McKee (Sellers); 7) Beth Stobbs and Cindy Tiemann (Alton); 8) Kathy Ashauer and Heidi St. Pierre (Edwardsville).

In singles action, Collinsville's powerful Cathy Stringer was the unanimous pick for number one seed. The rest of the singles seeds were: 2) Mary

GC schools give OK to join new conference

GRANITE CITY — In a move made here Tuesday night, the Granite City Unit 9 Board of Education gave approval for Granite City High School North and GCHS South to join the proposed new athletic conference in the area. The proposed name of the new loop is the Metro Suburban Conference.

The proposed entry of North and South into the conference was given unanimous approval.

The MSC will have five teams participating next school year, providing three other school boards give their approval. They will be (in addition to North and South) Belleville Althoff, Edwardsville and Cahokia. Althoff's board has already given approval.

If any one of the boards decides not to allow its school to enter the loop, then the conference is a dead issue for the time being.

Joe Fedora, the district's athletic coordinator, told the board, "I don't see anything better in sight for now or for the years to come. I don't know if it's the best game in town, but for now it's the only game."

Gilbert Walmsley, principal of Granite City High School North, told board members, "The other schools need assurances the Granite City schools are with them. The by-laws are at the five schools, being reviewed by the principals and the school boards."

"Basically, we have taken the by-laws of the Southwestern and the Mississippi Valley conferences and used the best of both. The boys' teams should be ready with football next fall."

North vs. South twice in FB next season

The schedules are already made, he stated.

Fedora noted that it will be necessary that two of the schools meet twice each year until a sixth school joins the conference. By the luck of the draw, Granite City High School North and South have been selected to meet two times in the next football season, he stated.

Board Member Norman Hall made a motion to follow Fedora's recommendation and give assurances the Granite City schools will be in the new conference and the board concurred in the motion.

The athletic directors of the five conference schools have been working on scheduling for the several sports and has completed work on: the 1979-80 football seasons at all levels; the 1979-80 and 1980-81 varsity basketball seasons; and the site and date of next season's conference wrestling tournament. It will be held in Cahokia on February 9 (1980) at 10 a.m.

The conference AD's have also determined that the baseball and soccer championships will be determined through a double round-robin format.

The conference golf and cross country championship tournaments will be held one week prior to the districts.

The athletic directors have also decided that there will be two conference track meets, one for boys and the other a regular meet.

Other items that are still under consideration are an all-conference sports trophy (the AD's have not determined whether or not it should be for girls and boys, or have a separate one for girls) and the number of teams needed in an activity to declare it a conference sport. Most feel a majority of the teams is enough.

Finalization of girls schedules and other boys schedules is being made at this time.

Gilbert Walmsley, principal at GCHS North, Althoff principal John O'Brien and Edwardsville principal Neal Schmelzel have been appointed to prepare by-laws and a constitution upon which the new conference will be founded. It is hoped they will be available for review prior to the close of the first semester.

Talk of the new conference began last spring when Edwardsville and Cahokia dropped out of the Southwestern Conference (in addition to Collinsville), Granite City South school year, after a long period as a member. North has always been an independent and Althoff has played an independent schedule after leaving a Catholic school conference several years ago.

It is hoped by the various athletic directors that a sixth conference member can be found, thus ending the need for schools to play each other twice in football, and make scheduling easier.

EDWARDSVILLE — Like a finely orchestrated piece of music building up to the finale, the Southern Illinois University schedule is rapidly approaching a series of crucial and climactic games.

This Saturday, it'll be against nationally high-ranked (11th last week to SIUE's sixth rating) Quincy College which comes calling on the SIUE kickers of Coach Bob Guelker at Cougar Field.

And, then it's the "really big show" — Saturday night, Nov. 12 — against their bitterest, Harry Keough's St. Louis University Bulls, in the Bronze Boot Classic.

INCIDENTALLY, it would be hard to find a closer rivalry than that between the Cougars and Quincy Hawks. The series now stands at 5-1 in favor of the Cougars. There's a bad omen for the Cougars: most of the time the team on the road (this time Quincy) has won the battle. Last year, the Cougars ruined the Hawks' homecoming celebration.

This year, Quincy is really red hot with a 9-2-0 record including a double-overtime 1-0 victory last Saturday over third-ranked St. Louis University.

Most terrifying for the Cougars, if history does repeat itself, it's SIUE's annual homecoming weekend. But, whatever, the Cougars' sole defeat came at the hands of Eastern seaboard powerhouse, the Nittany Lions of Penn State, 2-0, in the Indiana U. Big Red Classic.

Mike DeRaimondo, the Hawks' winger, scored the solo and winning goal for Quincy against the Bills. He leads all Quincy scorers with five goals and two assists. He played his prep ball at St. Louis DeBourgh High.

University eleven last Saturday on the SIUE pitch. The Akron Zips, no slouches themselves, fought the Cougars on equal terms until little Jeff Cacciatore opened the scoring for SIUE at 28:34 on an assist from their leading point-maker, Don Ebert.

EBERT, who is probably the most guarded American college soccer striker today, then broke the game — and the hearts of the Zips — wide open when, at 43:10, he grabbed a loose ball and soloed right in for the second goal. He now has 16 points (11 goals and 5 assists).

Then, the rout was on. Brian Higgins, who had missed a chance to put the Cougars on the board earlier on a direct penalty kick, blasted one in on a pass from Matt Malloy to make it 3-0 for SIUE at the end of the first half.

Mike Kelly, Tim Guelker and Dave Hummert completed the SIUE scoring.

State soccer pairings to be made next week

BLOOMINGTON — The top 24 suburban teams and top four downstate teams will be seeded, and all teams will be assigned to competition at the seven sectional sites, in the annual Illinois High School Association (IHSA) Boys State Soccer Tournament series Monday (Oct. 23) in the IHSA Office.

All teams entered in the 1978 series will complete at the sectional level, with the 24 suburban and four downstate teams earning the highest point totals for regular-season competition seeded into the six suburban and one downstate sectional. The winner of each of the seven sectionals will be joined by the Chicago Public League champion in the State Final Tournament the weekend of November 10-11 at Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University, Normal.

Granite City (South) will be out to defend the state championship it has won the last two years in a row. The Warriors are the only team to ever win back-to-back state crowns in soccer. They are also undefeated in playoff-points games (10-0).

Games will be played at the site of the highest seeded field Oct. 26, 28 and 31. Once the field in each sectional reaches the final four, a three-game, round-robin format will be used to determine the sectional champion. These games will be played Nov. 2, 4 and 7 at the seven designated sites. The top seven designated sites. The top two seeded teams among the final four will be scheduled to play each other in the Nov. 7 game.

Suburban sectionals will be held at: Chicago (Quigley South), Downers Grove (North), Hinsdale (Central), Northbrook (Glenbrook North), Palatine (H.S.) and Park Ridge (Maine East). The downstate sectional will be played at Granite City (North).

Another comeback, another win.

COLLINSVILLE — Granite City South made a comeback here Tuesday night, just one of many they've made this season.

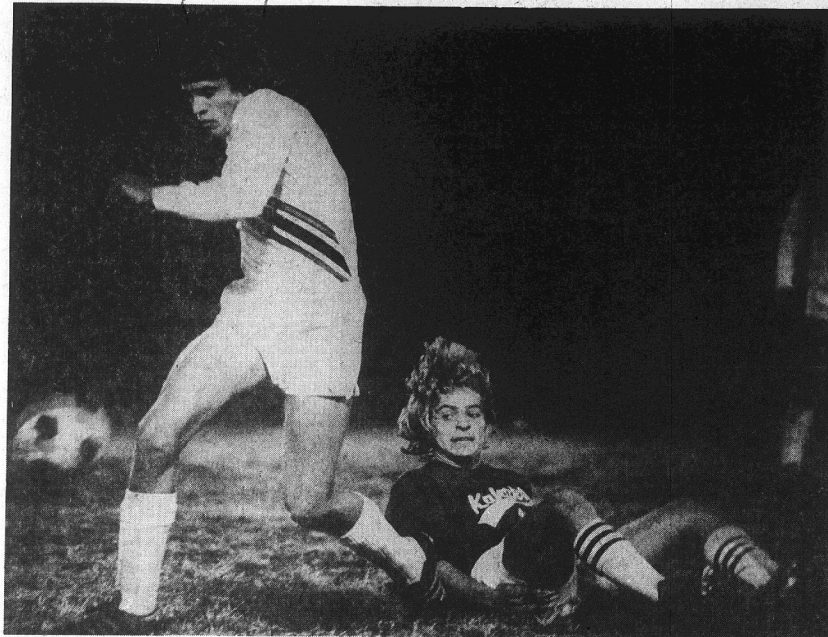

The Warriors came back from a 2-0 deficit in the first quarter to score four straight goals and defeat Collinsville 4-2. But it's something that South coach Gene Baker isn't too fond of.

What? The head soccer coach NOT fond of making comebacks? "Oh, I'm glad we came back," said Baker. "But I'm kind of sorry we had to."

"We've had to come from behind a few times this season...I'd rather the games not be so close."

Maybe the Warriors just wanted to make things interesting for their fans here Tuesday...or maybe Collinsville just played good soccer for one quarter and South did for three quarters. That's the way Collinsville coach Jim Stranz saw it.

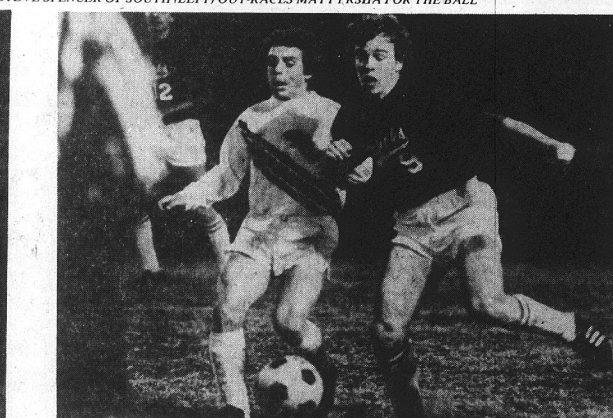

"We won one quarter and South won the other three," said Stranz. "That's why we play four quarters instead of one."

Prep football preview...

South takes on Alton; Steelers seek first win

GRANITE CITY — Three home games (one a homecoming) one will highlight this weekend's prep football action in the Quad-Cities.

Tomorrow night, Granite City South will host Alton and Madison will entertain Calhoun-Hardin. Both games are set for 7:30 p.m.

Saturday night, GCHS North will host Belleville Althoff at 8 o'clock in the Steelers' annual homecoming game.

Granite City South will be trying to ruin the homecoming of former Warrior coach Wayne Williams here tomorrow (Friday) night when it hosts Alton Senior at 7:30 p.m.

Williams coached at South for several seasons before moving on to Illinois State University and then the University of Illinois. He took over the job at Alton two years ago.

South is coming off a 14-7 triumph over Collinsville last weekend, while Alton is still stinging from a 15-9 loss to Belleville East in the Redbirds homecoming contest last Friday night.

One play spelled defeat for the Redbirds against East. They took a 9-0 lead on the Lancers, saw it shrink to 9-7 when East scored on a two-yard run with two minutes remaining in the third period.

But Alton seemed to have East stopped in the final period. The Lancers faced a perilous third-down and 23 yards to go at their own 47 with 3:29 remaining in the game. Not exactly the ideal situation for a team to be in.

But Lancer quarterback Jeff Burkett hit end John Desier on a 30-yard pass completion to keep the drive alive. Burkett later scored his second touchdown of the game and the Lancers had taken victory from the jaws of defeat.

Williams wasn't exactly overjoyed about the entire affair. "I'm thoroughly disgusted because we had the game won and then we had stupidity on one play in the secondary."

"We just weren't mentally tough."

BUT SOUTH finds itself in almost the opposite situation. The Warriors scored a fourth quarter TD of their own last week to beat Collinsville.

"Things are finally starting to go our way," said South coach Stan Wojcik. "We're finally getting the right bounces and we're not making the silly mistakes that cost ball games."

Alton will feature a scoring attack which was centered around one player against East... Floyd Raglin. He kicked a 34-yard field goal in the second quarter and scored a touchdown on a 52-yard run in the third.

He ran with ball 27 times for 189 yards. But Williams, even though pleased with Raglin's performance, is down on his team's overall effort. "We act like we want to lose," said Williams. "That's fine with me if that's what they want."

Madison-Calhoun-Hardin

Madison may finally get a chance to see what all-everything running back James Heard can do for them.

HEARD, an all-stater in basketball last season and all-area in football, has had to miss the first six games of this season because of a dislocated shoulder he suffered in the championship game of the Class A basketball Sectional last March in Vandalia.

Heard played part of last week's game against East St. Louis Assumption, but not at running back. He played split end. Even in that unfamiliar position and playing sparingly, Heard picked up 33 yards on three pass receptions.

Also back will be quarterback Carlyn Jackson, who also saw action last week. Clinton Senibaugh will return to the lineup after missing three games because of a dislocated shoulder suffered against Bushnell-Prairie City.

Madison may need all the help it can get. The Trojans are coming off a 56-0 defeat at the hands of Assumption... mostly to running back Kevin Jones.

JONES SCORED five touchdowns and led the Trojans to the victory.

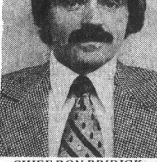

"We've got to forget about it," said Madison coach Nick Jakich. "With Heard and some of the others back, we may finally get a chance to see what they can do."

"It's not too late... we've still got three games left, and we start Friday."

This week's 'Guest-Guessers'

A happy homecoming ... for Williams?

CHIEF DON BRIDICK

GRANITE CITY — According to this week's Press-Record Guest Guessers, it's going to be a happy homecoming of sorts for one team, but they're not too sure about the other. This week's guessers are Don Patrick, director of Coordinated Youth Services of Pontoon Beach and Nameoki Township and Don Bridick, Chief of Police for the City of Madison.

State University. He later went on to the University of Illinois. He left Illinois when current coach Gary Moeller took over prior to the beginning of last season and took the head job at Alton. According to both Bridick and Patrick, it'll be a happy homecoming for Williams... they're both picking Alton over South tomorrow night.

There's another prep matchup set for tomorrow night in the Quad-Cities. Madison is hosting Calhoun-Hardin. Despite Madison's 1-5 record, both guessers are going with the Trojans.

to go with Althoff," said Patrick. "North's just too young and has been hit with too many injuries." But Bridick disagrees. "The odds have got to be catching up with North," he said. "With the home field advantage and the fact that it's their homecoming, I'll pick them."

Defeat of revenue amendment would mean chaos, Davis says

The Granite City Board of Education went on record Tuesday night as being in favor of passage of the revenue article (blue ballot) which will be before the voters of Illinois Nov. 7.

The amendment removes the deadline of Jan. 1, 1979, for the legislature to pass taxes and eliminate personal property taxes. It will be given to the voters on a separate blue ballot.

B. J. Davis, superintendent of the Granite City schools, told the board, "If the constitutional amendment fails, I am afraid we will be on a roller coaster of chaotic times. There will be no money to replace the money lost."

"The legislature will have to come up with some quick tax to replace personal property taxes and we are afraid what will happen. The Chamber of Commerce, cities, industries are supporting it. They are sure what will happen with personal property tax, but the results without it are unknown."

"Unless the amendment passes, there will be some very tough sledding ahead," Davis predicted.

A letter was read from the Illinois Association of School Boards which predicted more than $450 million would be lost to school districts, counties and municipalities.

"If this referendum, and amendment is not adopted at this election, the only alternatives are either to haphazardly adopt replacement tax legislation between Nov. 7 and Jan. 1, or, if nothing is done, risk the abolition of the personal property tax without replacement after Jan. 1," the letter says.

"In either case," it continues, "the new law, or the lack of a law will be tested in the courts after Jan. 1, which will create chaos for the local taxing bodies, including your school district."

"At the minimum, it will take at least four or five months before the Illinois Supreme Court will make a decision and those cases could be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which would require a minimum time of at least one year, at best."

"It is imperative that this Constitutional amendment be adopted. The adoption cannot take place unless the voters of Illinois are fully educated as to the consequences that will exist, if the amendment to the state revenue article fails," the letter says.

It concludes that all school, city and county officials should

Diabetes tag days in county

The Madison County Branch of the American Diabetes Association is aiding the Diabetic Children's Welfare Association in Oct. 27, 28 and 29 fund-raising tag days for diabetes research.

Madison County chairmen are Don and Betty Bagby of East Alton, Jim Linksvayer of Highland, Wanda Grossheim of Godfrey and William Bagby of East Alton.

Karen Carafiol, over-all chairman, said the first week of November marks the beginning of National Diabetes Month around the country. This year's theme carries the message: "Every 60 seconds another American is diagnosed as a diabetic."

Volunteers will be stationed at various shopping centers in Madison County. Funds collected will contribute toward diabetes research and the Camp for Children with Diabetes.

Diabetes affects 125,000 in this metropolitan area. It is the third cause of death and the leading cause of blindness.

Diabetics are 17 times more prone to the problems of kidney disease and five times more prone to gangrene.

Latest statistics show that one in every five children born in America today will develop diabetes within his or her lifetime. A cure has yet to be found.

GET THE MESSAGE? The Goodwill store at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue is going out of business and has reduced all items by 50 percent. But someone who was to paint large lettering on the windows of the store made a slight mistake. He painted the lettering on the inside of the windows, and the words appear backwards to motorists and pedestrians. The store is located in the former Fleishman's Store building.

Personalized reserved seating again at North High basketball games

Gilbert Walmsley, principal of Granite City High School North, has announced that the Board of Education has approved the use of three plans for adult admission to nine North boys' home basketball games, which includes the South games.

The first two plans are non-reserved seating season passes for $11.25 or a reserved season pass for $14.25. This is a saving over the $2 general admission price of $5.75 or $3.75 depending on the selection, he noted.

The personalized reserved seats, with one's name printed on the 13x18-inch seat, will cost $18.25.

"Any person interested in obtaining any one of the three plans is encouraged to come out to North, any school day, until Nov. 6, and select his seat or seats from our seating plan.

"But, please note, last year's personalized seat holders have until Nov. 1 to renew their original seats," Walmsley said.

SHED BURGLARY
A woman in the 1600 block of Spring Avenue reported at 2:05 p.m. Monday that vandals had smashed a four-by-six-foot picture window, valued at $150, at her home and, in a recent shed burglary, the thief stole an electric heater worth $50, a box of pots and pans, $30, and a collection of Christmas ornaments, $10.

Title XX funds aiding social service

Governor James R. Thompson announced the signing Monday of two contracts between private social service agencies and the state. They will provide a variety of programs to help troubled children and adults in low-income homes, and battered spouses and their children.

Both contracts involve initiatives, under which the state will match its federal Title XX funds with locally-raised dollars on a 3-to-1 ratio, with the state providing the larger portion.

The two contracts, with the Illinois Department of Public Aid as the sponsoring state department, are as follows:

—To focus on the needs of children, families and adults in the Cabrini-Green homes and neighborhood in Chicago, a coalition of 10 private agencies and the City of Chicago will utilize nearly $600,000 in Title XX funds and more than $200,000 in city funds to provide delinquency prevention, job counseling, help for ex-offenders in finding work, and income and household management. The initial amount will run the program until June 1979. Annual cost of the program, to be known as Social Outreach Services, will be $1.6 million.

Participants in the effort are the City Department of Human Services, Chicago Urban League, Chicago Boys Clubs, Chicago Boy Scouts, Chicago Girl Scouts, Chicago Orleans Housing, United Charities, Chicago Youth Centers, Olivet Community Center, Safer Foundation and YMCA.

—To provide refuge, counseling and other services to battered spouses and their children, the Statewide Coalition Against Domestic Violence will receive $334,000 in Title XX money to provide $445,000 in services through June 1979, with anticipated dollars in the full fiscal year starting July 1979 to be $775,000.

Members of the Coalition are the Oasis Women's Center, Alton, Mutual Ground, Chicago, Abused Women Coalition; Community Crisis Center, Elgin; Quad-City Women's Center, Rock Island; Sojourner House, Springfield; Des Plaines Valley Community Center, Summit; A Woman's Place, Urbana, and Tri-County Women's Strength, Peoria.

The Governor said he expects the state to be able to provide about $45 million of its Title XX allotment, about 30 percent, for distribution among local government-certified programs and those operated by private sector agencies in the next full fiscal year beginning in July.

Thompson commended United Way organizations for leading the way on the donated funds initiatives which are under way or being planned.

There are now 67 projects approved for funding, the governor said, with another 64 proposals scheduled for approval this week for a total of more than $10 million in services to be provided through the 1979-79 fiscal year ending in June.

Thompson said a total of $20 million in Title XX money is available for projects this year, with scores of proposals now being screened in addition to those already given approval.

INDECENT EXPOSURE

A man driving an auto with Missouri license plates pulled to the curb at Madison Avenue and 20th Street Monday and exposed himself to two Granite City women waiting to cross at the intersection, police reported.

EPHY EHLY, guest clinician for today's 16th annual high school choral clinic.

High school choral clinic

The chairman of choral studies at the University of Missouri-Kansas City Conservatory of Music, Ephy Ehly, will be guest clinician for the 16th annual High School Choral Clinic to be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville today.

Students from area high schools will work under Ehly and Leonard Van Camp, director of choral activities at SIUE, in an afternoon session that will explore ways to help the young singers improve their performances as choir members. Ehly, a recipient of the "outstanding teacher award" at UMKC, will also conduct two morning sessions, working with members of the University Chorus and the Concert Chorus of SIUE.

According to Van Camp, Ehly's increasing popularity as a clinician can be attributed to "a unique and enthusiastic teaching approach which he shares with thousands of students and teachers each year." "Theme for this year's clinic is "Choral Music, Old and New." Van Camp said present day music will be alternated with music of old masters in the instruction of the high school choral students.

Following the afternoon session, scheduled in Meridian Ballroom of the University Center, Van Camp will conduct the Concert Chorus in a brief concert for visiting students and their choral directors.

Parenting can pose problems

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension Adviser

Home Economics

Trying to raise children alone is one of the major struggles faced by single parents. There is that extra responsibility that problems must be met alone. Decisions must often be made without the benefit of discussion with another involved person. Learning to anticipate possible child-raising problems may be the first step toward improved ease in handling the ones that come. This anticipation allows for time to consider:

—How to prevent problems from growing too big.
—Various ways to manage your own actions, and —Where to turn for help which may be needed.

Problems may arise from the traumatic experience of becoming a single-parent family. If divorce was the basis for single parenthood, children may experience conflict over split loyalties, parental visitation and insufficient child support.

No matter what the cause, children often react noticeably to the loss of the absent parent. Practically, daily situations in raising children frustrate the single parent. Whether the parent is working or a full-time homemaker, the question can be asked, "Who is minding the children?"

The search for good child care and the demand for attention to children's needs can be equally frustrating and time consuming. Care means care for all ages of children—after school, during vacations, during illness.

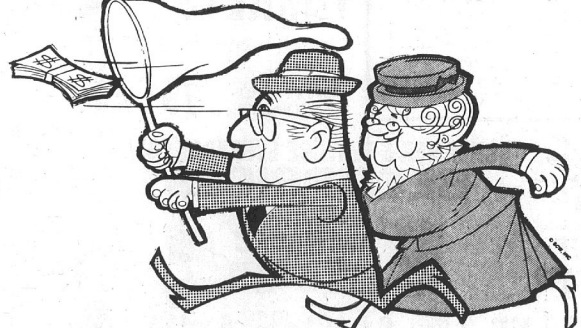

Conflicts may develop between being a person fulfilling one's own adult needs and being a parent.

Even the most self-reliant single parent may at times find the company and the problems of even the most loved and usually enjoyed children a bit difficult and lacking in satisfaction.

The sensitivity a parent has to the feelings of the children and their need for attention is vital for success in parenting. A willingness to turn to outside help—family, friends, community or professional—can be the added resource needed to help both single parent and children form a viable family life together.

Park projects proposed

The frost is on the pumpkin, and Granite City Park commissioners in planning a late fall bond election have their thoughts on varied recreational facilities suitable for spring-summer-fall months. The drawing at the top shows the proposed new swimming pool east of the ice skating rink, which is visible in the background.

The next sketch indicates the types of playground equipment being proposed for installation here. And the lower drawing shows the present ice rink at the bottom; new locker facilities that are to be used part of the year by skaters and the remainder of the year by swimmers; and the fan-shaped new swimming pool, which is to have a waterfall effect on the water-recycling unit at the deeper, narrower end of the pool.

Projects scheduled for the tentatively-set Dec. 2 park referendum are: A swimming pool with calm water or wave action, plus bathhouse, fencing, lighting and parking area blacktop. Enclosing of the ice rink and heating of the rink spectator area, plus repainting of the rink ends and the inside ceiling of the ice rink roof. New playground equipment and fencing for Wilson Park and West Granite Park. Resurfacing of Wilson Park tennis courts 3, 4, 5 and y, with repair of gates and fencing. And construction of two new tennis courts, fencing and basketball goals at Worthen Park and two new tennis courts, fencing and basketball goals at West Granite Park.

8-lamp flashing signal for Illinois school buses

(Illinois State Bar Association)

To rural folks or those living in smaller towns around the state, the old yellow school bus has always been a familiar sight. In recent years, city residents have also grown accustomed to the sight of the school bus.

What Illinois citizens may not be familiar with is the special body of law surrounding school buses.

Special provisions also apply to speed zones established in the vicinity of school buildings.

The law regarding safety features for school buses falls into three general categories:

1. Requirement of special visual equipment plus other safety devices.

2. Rules for motorists and penalties for failure to follow them.

3. Exclusive reservation of certain requirements, regulations and penalties for registered school buses only.

Rules requiring special equipment provide that in addition to the STOP arm on the driver's side of the bus, after December 1978 all school buses must be equipped with a 8-lamp flashing signal.

This signal will provide a red light to be used while the school bus is stopped, and an amber (caution) light to be used just prior to and just after stopping.

The law provides that these visual warnings can be used only when loading or discharging pupils.

Buses that carry 17 or more passengers and that were manufactured after July 31, 1976, must have laminated safety glass.

All buses must be equipped with fire extinguishers and first-aid kits.

Upon approaching a school bus stopped for the purpose of loading or discharging pupils, a motorist traveling in either direction must stop and remain stopped until the bus signals are no longer activated.

Failure to observe these rules can result in a conviction which carries a penalty of 30 days' suspension of the offending motorist's driver's license.

Rules meant to distinguish official school buses from other types of buses provide that no vehicle other than one registered as a school bus can be painted the "national school bus chrome yellow," nor can it be identified with the words

"school bus."

When yellow school buses are used for transporting passengers on other than official school business, the "school bus" sign must be covered.

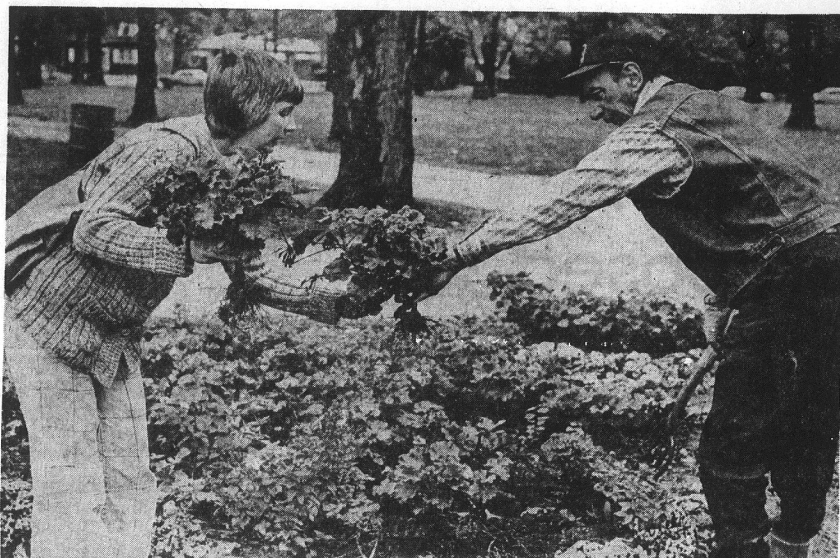

Likewise, use of the STOP side arm and 8-lamp flashing system is reserved for official school buses — and then only when transporting pupils to and from school or for authorized school functions.

Finally, the penalties mentioned above apply only to yellow school buses being used in their official capacity.

There are special provisions relating to speed zones near school property.

The rules require that — when official signs are posted warning that a school zone is being approached, and indicating the maximum speed limit — no motorist shall drive in excess of 20 miles per hour during school days when school children are present.

The Illinois State Bar Association cautions motorists to be aware of the special uses of visual signals, the school speed limits, and the "rules of the road" as they apply to school buses — not only to avoid penalties, but to insure the safety of young children.

A HELPING HAND is given to Mrs. Jane Duft, 1702 Garfield Ave., with a geranium plant by a Wilson Park employee, Mal Myers. Numerous plants and flowers in the park's flower beds near 27th Street were given away to area residents during the Granite City Park District's annual flower give-away held Friday. The event attracted many gardeners and flower enthusiasts hoping to get a head start for next year's garden. (Press-Record Photo by Pat Foley)

CHIROPRACTORS SEEK RESEARCH VOLUNTEERS

The International Pain Control Institute is presently engaged in what is the most extensive research program undertaken by the chiropractic profession. This research is directed toward determining the relationship between health problems and spinal misalignments and utilizes a screening process called Contour Analysis.

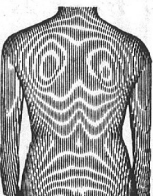

Volunteers are being sought for screening. Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moire photograph) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortions, and scoliosis.

This is a public service program for participating volunteers. The doctors are contributing their time, service, and facilities for the program.

Anyone wishing to be a volunteer may telephone participating doctors directly for information or an appointment.

The Diplomat Club was organized more than a decade ago to recognize Franklin's top sales leaders in a nationwide network encompassing more than 4,000 associates across the U.S. and Canada.

Company President William J. Alley said Terrell will be honored with a feature story in the November issue of the Franklin Field magazine, the company's national publication. The 94-year-old Franklin is one of the world's largest life insurance institutions, with assets in excess of $2 billion and over $12 billion of insurance in force.

DIGGING AND CLIPPING. Area residents dig up a wide variety of flowers and plants from the Wilson Park flower beds near 27th Street Friday morning. The rush of gardeners was due to the annual flower give-away sponsored by the park district. Only requirement for the event was that all had to bring their own pots and containers to transport their plants back home. Some of the flowers available were begonias, dahlias and geraniums. (Press-Record Photo by Pat Foley)

St. John United festival Sunday

A potpourri of antique dishes, hanging plants, homemade jellies, apple butter and hundreds of handmade Christmas crafts are among the items to be offered Sunday at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameki Road.

The occasion is the second annual family-style chicken dinner and "Fall Festival Bazaar" to be hosted by the church congregation.

An "all you can eat" chicken dinner will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday, with tickets costing $3.75 for adults and $2 for children 10 years and under.

Youngsters who are 4 years old and younger are free, according to Arthur Ringier, general chairman.

The event is open to the public, Ringier said.

The dinner will be served in the church Fellowship Hall and the bazaar festival will be held in the Youth Hall, he said.

All guests are being asked to use the Tower entrance at the church for easier access.

Members of St. John's congregation began preparing for the bazaar last spring.

Ringier said, noting that many workshops were needed to complete the various projects.

"The bazaar is unique this year; it is a combination of old and new — something for everyone," Ringier said.

A Country Store will feature homemade apple butter, jams, jellies and home canned foods.

New, used and antique books of interest to readers of all ages will be sold and African violets, hanging plants and table plants also will be offered.

Hundreds of colorful and interesting handmade

Christmas crafts are among the bazaar offerings, such as tree ornaments, wall hangings, door decorations and centerpieces made by the church members.

Mrs. Georgia Engelke, bazaar chairman, commented, "these crafts will make excellent holiday gifts."

The popular St. John United Church of Christ Cookbook, an annual project, again will be available to the public, she added.

Steve Suess, publicity chairman, reported a silent auction will feature a handmade quilt.

Miscellaneous household items and antique dishes also are among the festival items, Suess stated.

There will be ample parking and seating for the public, the chairman stressed.

Food stamps 'cash' is to be eliminated

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has unveiled new food stamp regulations marking the biggest overhaul in the program's history. He said key provisions of the new regulations will take effect by Jan. 1.

The regulations, which implement the Food Stamp Act of 1977, are aimed at "eliminating those who should not be receiving food stamps, while assuring that we do get food stamps to those truly in need," Bergland said.

"The changes tighten administration of the program and redirect benefits to needier persons."

The regulations put into effect provisions of the Law ending the requirement that food stamp participants come up with lump sums of cash to purchase their food stamps.

A family now paying $60 for $100 in food stamps, for a $40 benefit, would instead simply receive the $40 in stamps.

Several million low income persons who currently cannot afford to buy stamps will be able to receive nutritional assistance through the food stamp program when this change takes effect, Bergland said.

Most of those who will enter the program when the purchase requirement is ended will be the elderly poor and the working poor, he predicted.

New application of microsurgery is making plastic surgery safer, easier

A new application of a long-used surgical technique, microsurgery, is making plastic surgery easier and safer in this state.

With microsurgery, a surgeon uses a microscope to dissect and reattach minute structures that are not visible to the human eye. The technique has just been demonstrated to plastic surgery residents at the University of Illinois Hospital, Chicago, by Paolo Santoni-Rugiu, M.D. He is head of the Department of Plastic Surgery at St. Chiara University Hospital, Pisa, Italy.

Richard C. Schultz, M.D., chief of the Section of Plastic Surgery at the U. of I. Medical Center, says Dr. Santoni-Rugiu's six-week course in microsurgery was one of the most comprehensive ever presented to surgical residents in the U.S.

"The surgery is actually microvascular and microneural," Dr. Santoni-Rugiu said. "Through the technique, we are able to connect small nerves and vessels as small as a half-millimeter."

The microsurgery methods have been used for decades by neurosurgeons and ear, nose and throat surgeons, he pointed out. The major advantage of this technique to the plastic surgeon, according to Dr. Santoni-Rugiu, is its application to the pedicle graft or flap.

The flap is a segment of skin and underlying tissue which is moved from one area of the body to close another area that requires a soft, thick covering.

It is used extensively by plastic surgeons to fill skin defects that result from accidents or the removal of a benign or malignant tumor," he related. "Flaps are also used to cover open wounds that have failed to heal, unstable scars, chronic ulcers and cleft lips and palates.

"In the past, the flap would remain attached to the donor area and continue to receive its blood supply until it was completely united to the new location."

"A second operation would be needed to release it from the donor area after it had acquired sufficient blood."

"With the microsurgery technique, the pedicle can be attached to the blood vessels and allow an immediate blood supply. We can even obtain flaps of greater size than from previous conventional methods."

"Because of microsurgery, the amount of surgery needed to correct deformities can be greatly reduced," Dr. Santoni-Rugiu noted.

"The procedure takes less time, there is greater comfort for the patient, and the risk of infection is greatly reduced."

"Microsurgery has many other applications for the plastic surgeon."

"It allows reimplantation of fingers, and transfer of toes to hands when needed. And it helps solve traumatic problems of the scalp," he said.

"It can help shorten most of these surgical procedures, but most important of all, it makes them safer."

Dr. Schultz, who is also a professor of surgery at the U. of

I. Medical Center, says the in-depth experience that has been gained in the field of microsurgery should prepare not only residents in plastic surgery, but also residents in other surgical disciplines to continue and expand this surgical frontier.

Bluegrass band to play

Bluegrass music will be the sound at the Faculty Club at SIUE Saturday from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m., when the Schell Brothers Bluegrass Band performs in conjunction with "Cougar Day" festivities.

The band is being presented free of charge by the University Center Board. Food and refreshments will be served at the Faculty Club at a minimal cost and the public is invited.

The four-member band just finished a summer of festival engagements in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Missouri. Members include Wayne and Doug Schell, Bill Adams and Wally Vispoel. The Schells, natives of Jersey County, Ill., have sung together since childhood.

Wayne Schell performs on the guitar, and Doug Schell plays bass. Adams, a Missouri native, plays banjo for the group, while Vispoel plays the mandolin and sings lead and baritone vocals.

"Cougar Day," a three-day homecoming celebration with the Quincy-SIU soccer game featured on Saturday, is coordinated by the Fraternity-Sorority Conference.

ABC's of fire safety

Guarding against fires in the home is as simple as ABC, according to the Illinois FAIR Plan Association. The A-to-Z alphabetical listing follows:

Ashes should be put in their proper place. If you're a smoker, keep plenty of ash trays around.

Basement furnaces should be kept clear from all burnable materials. These should be put at least 18 inches from the furnace.

Cigarettes are a leading cause of home fires. Don't smoke in bed. Mattresses catch fire too easily.

Drills provide practice for all members of your family so that you can get out in case of fire. Escape routes are important to know. Plan how to get out of your home from all rooms in an emergency, especially from your bedrooms.

Fire departments should be called after you're safely out of the house.

Gas smells mean there's a chance of fire in the house. Call the gas company immediately.

Hot water heaters can break down; pilot lights can go out, and gas can cause an explosion. Have your hot water heater checked each year. Hot water should be heated to only 120 degrees F (48.9 C).

Insulation around the chimney sometimes is insufficient. Make sure your chimney is properly insulated.

Kitchen chimneys get hot from constant use and nearby materials can catch fire. Also, insulate wood floors under heaters and stoves.

Liquid, the kind that burns, should be kept in metal containers, tightly sealed and stored in cool places.

Matchboxes should be kept in a safe place. About halfway through the alphabet is the letter M, which stands for matches, which shouldn't be left where children can get at them.

Nervous panic leads to loss of life. If a fire breaks out, keep cool and leave the building quickly.

Outlets for electrical appliances should not be overloaded. This is a very common cause of fire.

Paint cans should be tightly covered and set in cool places. Clean old paint brushes carefully before putting them away. They can go up in smoke easily.

Questions from your children about fire should be answered carefully. Go over your fire drill with them, tell them that they should be careful not to open doors that are hot to the touch during a fire. Also, be sure to explain that it is dangerous to hide from a fire. Many children are burned to death each year because the fear of a present fire makes them hide in a closet or under a bed.

Rubbish should be cleared away from areas around your house. A fire, starting outdoors, can easily spread to nearby buildings.

Smoke detectors should have a lightning arrester. Lightning can cause a fire. Your TV antenna should be properly grounded.

Test your head. Don't ever go back into a burning building to save your possessions, even your pets. Once outside, stay there.

Ventilate rooms in which oil heaters are used to avoid "hot spots." They can cause a fire.

Wiring should be checked to see whether the cords from your appliances are free from breaks and cracks. Never nail wiring to a wall or baseboard.

Xmas tree lights are beautiful when they're hung on a dry Christmas tree. Don't keep them on too long.

Yard areas near the house should be kept free of barbecue equipment. The heat from charcoal fires lasts a long time and could act as a torch.

Zero hour comes when a fire starts. It usually spreads with great speed. You must move quickly. Get the family out of the house and to a prearranged meeting place so you can count noses and make sure everyone is safely out.

The Illinois FAIR Plan Association, a non-profit organization located at 175 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, provides property owners in 103 Illinois communities with fire insurance protection.

Why golf is a gentleman's game

Golf has rules. Football has rules. Basketball has rules.

In football and basketball, fellows in striped shirts are charged with control of the game; they make the interpretations of the rules. And sometimes, however wrongfully, as in the case of the San Diego Chargers-Oakland Raiders and Denver Broncos-Minnesota Vikings contests of recent weeks, they have a large influence on the outcome.

The Chargers were robbed of victory, suffering a 21-20 loss on a 30-yard "fumble" recovery for a Raider touchdown on the final play of the game. The Vikings defeated the Broncos in overtime, 12-9, but should have prevailed in regulation. However, the zebras in charge, referee Don Wedge, decided that three seconds was sufficient time for the Broncos to run their field goal team out to kick the tying three-point.

Apparently, Wedge was frustrated at a fire drill monitor in his school days. He allowed the San Francisco 49ers a similar time frame to kick a field goal before the half against the Houston Oilers. The Oilers won, 20-19, but shouldn't have been placed in a position of losing. The men in blue make these decisions in baseball, too often with the same undesirable results.

In professional golf, 99 percent of the rulings are made by guys dressed in double-breasted slacks, spiked shoes and shirts of various descriptions and colors—the players, themselves.

I could cite any number of instances of players calling penalties on themselves but one should suffice.

In the U.S. Open qualifying earlier this year, Bobby Nichols and Mason Rudolph needed pars on the final hole to advance to the Open proper. Darkness was quickly approaching and both players were playing the same kind of ball. After putting out for pars, the players discovered that each had struck the other's ball, identifiable by pencil markings, from the fairway.

Nichols and Rudolph assessed themselves two-stroke penalties and missed qualifying. They were the only ones who made the mistake. If they kept quiet, they use it up in the Open. Somehow, I can't imagine the Raiders telling the officials they blew the call and insisting the Chargers be credited with a victory. Counting the people who witnessed the travesty of justice on television, millions saw the Raiders get away with the equivalent of a guy giving himself a 50-foot putt on the final hole and muttering something unworldly.

I'm not advocating that the officials be eliminated from these sports. Utter chaos would be the result. But on numerous judgment calls—pass interference, trapped balls (30-yard "fumbles") etc. in football; trapped balls, tags on sliding runners etc. in baseball and fouls called when no contact is made in basketball etc.—it's too bad the players couldn't be trusted to reverse the officials' decisions.

A player knows when he catches or didn't catch a ball, did or didn't make a tag, wasn't fouled but goes to the free throw line for a point or two, anyway. A player is absolved of any responsibility in these matters. Besides, such rulings are not his job and it's reasoned that, over the course of a season, things even out. The officials, being human, will make as many mistakes one way as they will the other.

Because these decisions can make a difference in the outcome, regardless of whether they are right or wrong, athletes and coaches are encouraged to get away with cheating, or, just as unfortunately, forced to accept being cheated.

At least on the professional level, there are strong reasons why golf is known as a gentleman's game.

Your wife will be eligible to receive benefits until your youngest child becomes 18. The two children, if they are enrolled in school as full-time students, may receive benefits until they reach age 22.

Q. I'm 65 and ready to retire after having worked at maximum wages for the last 25 years. My wife is much younger than me and we have two children aged 16 and 17. How much could I expect in monthly Social Security benefits?

A. Your own monthly benefit rate would be about $480.70. Your total family benefit could be as high as $856.60.

Your wife will be eligible to receive benefits until your youngest child becomes 18. The two children, if they are enrolled in school as full-time students, may receive benefits until they reach age 22.

VISIT TO MONET EXHIBIT. Mera Musterman, gifted program coordinator, organized a field study at the St. Louis Art Museum for 123 intellectually gifted students from 13 schools in Granite City. The students were previously instructed by gifted resource teacher teams in their respective schools regarding Claude Monet, the acknowledged leader of Impressionism and the artist through whom Impressionism had a major influence on painting in the 20th Century. Since St. Louis was one of only two museums in the U.S. to sponsor "Monet's Year at Giverny" it was a rare opportunity, and one that teachers say "provided a positive influence on the students' appreciation of fine and influential art."

'Dreamstage' scheduled

This metropolitan area will host the only Midwest appearance of "Dreamstage," a nationally-acclaimed multimedia exhibit created at Harvard University, combining art and science to explore dreaming.

The exhibit uses lasers, polygraphs, computers and dramatic time-lapse photography to interpret the dreams of a live sleeper while viewers watch from a specially-constructed sleep chamber. Seen by thousands in Boston, Atlanta and San Francisco, the exhibit will open on Thursday, Nov. 2, at the Old Post Office, Ninth and Olive, and will remain until Dec. 1. Hours will be 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, except holidays.

"Dreamstage" presents the biological discoveries of current sleep research in a new aesthetic language "expressing the inherent beauty of these findings and the creative qualities of sleep."

The exhibit is divided into two areas: a Light Space and a Dark Space. Sleep laboratory (complete with a person naturally sleeping and dreaming and a polygraph to monitor his sleep) is located in the center of the sleep chamber in the Dark Space. Viewers watch the sleeping subject through a one-way mirror and on a large video screen.

The electrical activity generated by the sleeper's brain waves, heartbeat, eye movement and muscle tone is synthesized to create original "brain music" and into laser projections that oscillate on the ceiling and walls of the chamber in a rainbow of colors. This "symphony" of music, light and a live creation by the sleeper—reaches its dramatic peak during his dream cycle.

The Light Space contains illustrations of the findings of current sleep research and its implications for the theory of dreams.

A slide-tape show and time-lapse photography of people sleeping are used in this section.

Other areas of the Light Space are dedicated to the scientist as an artist revealing the beauty of scientific illustration of the brain's form and function. The exhibit was conceived by Dr. J. Allan Hobson, professor of psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School, to demonstrate the nature of the human brain by depicting discernable functions during various stages of sleep.

To achieve this goal, Dr. Hobson chose as his collaborators three people with artistic rather than scientific backgrounds: Paul Earls, a composer and a Fellow at the MIT Center for Advanced Visual Studies; Ted Spagna, a photographer-filmmaker, and Ragenhild Karlstrom, a Swedish graphic artist. Together, they have created this look at the world of dreams. "The Dreamstage" exhibit is open to the public. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.

WOLF EVENT MONDAY

A campaign reception honoring Sam W. Wolf of Granite City, Democratic candidate for state representative, will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Monday at Charlie's Restaurant, Hors d'oeuvres and refreshments will be served. Tickets are available from Albert H. Froeming, treasurer of the Citizens for Sam Wolf, and will be sold at the door.

Halloween creatures to parade Saturday

"Ghosts and goblins" will parade in a motorized caravan Saturday through the Quad-Cities as members of Explorer Post 10-33 and Post 10-4 hold their annual pre-Halloween parade.

The youths will leave the Venice police station at 2 p.m., travel on Broadway into Madison, through Madison on Madison Avenue to Namekiki Road, to Pontoon Road and then east from Namekiki Road ending at the Gaslight Plaza Shopping center.

A preview of things and "fiends," "hobgoblins" and assorted "creature features" will be in the parade under Madison and Granite City Police escort.

Explorer Scouts of the Quad-Cities again will operate their "haunted houses" for Halloween from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. beginning Thursday, Oct. 26, through Halloween, Oct. 31. This is the major fund-raising event of the youth between ages 14 and 19.

"The Old Haunted Fire House," located near Namekiki Road and Amos Avenue, will be "haunted" by the ghostly friends of Explorer Post 10-33.

sponsored by the Granite City Police Department.

Members of Explorer Post 10-4 sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110 again will have their "Haunted Castle" at 15th Street and Madison Avenue. Post 10-4 is the original Halloween haunted house group in the Quad-Cities.

Admission to each Explorer Halloween attraction is 50 cents for children under age 12 and $1 for adults.

What if pet turtle doesn't like some programs you do?

Q. We have a poodle that is an incessant T.V. watcher. He loves to watch and bark at all the animals. We have hoped to find out if this is common or very exceptional in dogs.

We wrote to an expert, but he didn't know, and all we got was double talk. Could you give us an answer?

A. Dogs emulate their owners in many ways. I once had an asthmatic client whose dog had asthmatic symptoms but was really normal. Turtles watch T.V.; my three pound mongrel female watches T.V., but is intelligent enough to realize that nothing there deserves her active participation.

Stars like BARBARA STREISAND, JOHN DENVER, JOAN RIVERS AND PAUL McCARTNEY are paying a perfume company as much as $2,000 for one-of-a-kind scents made especially for them. Oh, the sweet smell of success!

Q. What is "private mortgage insurance?"

A. It's insurance, provided by a private company, that insures the top 15 or 20 percent of a conventional mortgage loan. Its primary purpose is to provide an unusually high-ratio (low down payment) loan for a home buyer.

It couldn't hurt, but . . .

What do you think of adding yeast to a diet? Does it help? — Mrs. B.K.

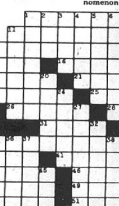

Dear Mrs. B.K.: Help what? Yeast is high in the B vitamins, but so are a lot of other foods. It is not necessary to add yeast to a good diet.

Is sea salt better than ordinary salt? — Miss C.P.

Dear Miss C.P.: Salt is sodium chloride regardless of its source. Sea salt is just more expensive.

Visual splendor in 'Avalanche' movie

"Avalanche" (PG) — What once was the domain of Irwin Allen has been invaded by producer Roger Corman and his New World company. And this one has been done without pretense, a refreshing approach to the disaster movie genre. "Avalanche" is long on action, action, photography and a visually splendid sequence from whence the title comes. Rock Hudson delivers a solid performance as the genius behind a new ski resort in Colorado and he has a lot of competent help from Robert Forster, Joanne Whalley-Kilmer and Steve Franken, among others.

Art of buttonholing

Does marking for buttonholes give you trouble? Try this quick trick: Using a thread to match your buttonhole thread, run a vertical row of basting along each end marking of buttonholes. Run a horizontal row of basting through center of each buttonhole mark, extending basting beyond each end.

If the buttonholes run vertically instead of horizontally, just reverse the basting — make vertical rows of basting to mark center of buttonholes; horizontal rows to mark ends.

participation division making the presentation to Village Trustees Don Rea, Ray Gaudette Jr., Keith Biggs, Village President David Moss, Trustee Paul Bennett and Village Clerk Mary Warren.

ACTIVE ROLE BY WOMEN is noticeable in the fall 1978 United Way drive to aid member agencies in meeting their 1979 operating costs. Standing is Mrs. Mary Jesse, chairman, reporting for the Special Donors Division. Seated is Mrs. Mary Tarpoiff.

How's this for value?

92¢ for agencies
8¢ for campaign,
year-round administration

Everything is going up... except the United Way's campaign and year-round administrative costs. 92 cents of every dollar you give is earmarked for agencies. That's among the highest returns in America. The United Way is still a great value and your gift is the gift that gets it done.

There Are Two Seas

A Parable by Bruce Borison

There are two seas in Palestine. One is fresh, and fish are in it. Splashes of green adorn its banks. Trees spread their branches over it, and stretch their thorny roots to dip of its healing water. Along its shore the children play.

The River Jordan makes this sea with sparkling water from the hills. So it laughs in the sunshine. And men build their houses near to it, and build their nests, and every kind of life is happier because it is there.

The River Jordan flows on south into another sea. Here is no splash of fish, no fluttering leaf, no song of birds, no children's laughter. Travellers choose another route, unless on urgent business. The air hangs above its waters and neither man nor beast nor fowl will drink. What makes this mighty difference in these neighbor seas? Not the River Jordan. It empties the same good water into both. Not the soil in which they lie, nor the country round about.

This is the difference. The Sea of Galilee receives but does not keep the Jordan. For every drop that flows into it another drop flows out. The giving and receiving go on in equal measure. The other sea is a sewer, hoarding its income jealously. It will not be tempted into any generous impulse. Every drop it gets, it keeps. The Sea of Galilee gives and lives. The other sea gives nothing. It is named the Dead.

There are two seas in Palestine.
There are two kinds of people in the world.
Which kind are we?

STANDING UP TO BE COUNTED. Quad-City residents, employees and business people — a full cross-section of the local community — are participating in this fall's United Way campaign. Darryl Slater, chairman of Commercial Division I of the drive, is shown standing at the far right as he reports on his division's activities. Standing in the background in front of the United Way banner is William P. Donovan, campaign chairman.

PRICING POLICY!

Everyday low, low prices on NAME BRANDS you know and trust. These prices are often lower than the so-called "Off Brands" sold in many other stores. Tri-City's fight against high prices did not start yesterday, last week or last year. The Tri-City pricing policy was set by C. W. Pershall back in 1914 and is still practiced by his grandson, S. E. Pershall, Jr., President of the local Tri-City Chain of Supermarkets.

DuPont TEFLON® Carpet Protector

DuPont
TEFLON®
carpet protector

easy care
resists dirt and soiling

THE NEW WITH
DuPont Static Control
OF FIBER AND YARN DUSTS
REDUCES STATIC

...for lasting carpet beauty

Easy care is synonymous with DuPont TEFLON. DuPont TEFLON Carpet Protector resists soil and stands up against heavy use and frequent vacuuming. For easy care, look for the tag that says DuPont TEFLON Carpet PROTECTOR. This protective finish is on your carpet when you buy it. It's professionally applied by your carpet manufacturer using the latest techniques that assure top performance.

How TEFLON Carpet Protector Works

DuPont TEFLON forms an invisible shield on the carpet which helps keep dirt from lodging itself within the carpet fibers. Even mud has difficulty seeping in...it dries on the surface. Since dirt tends to settle on the top of the carpet, it can be easily vacuumed away. Less soil clings to a carpet treated with TEFLON. Your carpet will not need its first shampoo until much later than unprotected carpet, and shampooing is required less frequently. This will result in savings in both time and money.

Keeps Carpet Looking Newer Longer

Frequent vacuuming prevents dirt from becoming imbedded beneath the surface and causing abrasion. Carpets protected with TEFLON Carpet Protector retain their beauty longer.

Spills

A carpet treated with DuPont TEFLON Carpet Protector will give you an opportunity to remove the spill before it is absorbed into the carpet.

All watery spills should be blotted up immediately with a towel or absorbent cloth. If spills dry or are forced into the carpet, normal cleaning, such as a sudsy solution of warm water and detergent should clean them easily. Be sure to rinse thoroughly to remove the detergent. If it's an oily stain (salad dressing), use a cleaning agent such as TEXIZE® K2R. Allow to dry and vacuum. Solid and semi-solid stains should be scraped lightly with a table knife to remove the excess, and clean as above. With good housekeeping, regular vacuuming and prompt attention to spills-your carpet will look newer longer.
